

Content

Preface

9

An honorary paper

Wilhelm Blum München, Germany

Sigismondo Pandolfo Malatesta (1417–1468):

Stadtherr von Rimini, Neuheide und Verehrer Plethons

11–38

Plethon's philosophy in the Byzantine context

László Bene Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest, Hungary

Constructing Pagan Platonism:

Plethon's Theory of Fate and the Ancient Philosophical Tradition

41–71

George Arabatzis University of Athens, Greece

Plethon's Philosophy of the Concept

73–111

Sergei Mariev Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München, Germany

Plethon and Scholarios on Deliberation in Art and Nature

113–142

John A. Demetracopoulos University of Patras, Greece

Hermonymos Christonymos Charitonymos' Capita decem pro divinitate Christi:

A Posthumous Reaction to Plethon's Anti-Christianism

143–259

Plethon and the Latin Renaissance

Mikhail Khorkov Institute of Philosophy of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Moscow, Russian Federation

How to Make a New Philosophy From an Old Platonism:

Plethon and Cusanus on Phaedrus

261–272

Vojtěch Hladký Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic

From Byzantium to Italy: "Ancient Wisdom" in Plethon and Cusanus

273–292

Jozef Matula Palacký University, Olomouc, Czech Republic

& Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, Seoul, South Korea

The Fate of Plethon's Criticism of Averroes

293–322

Davide Amendola Scuola Normale Superiore di Pisa, Italy

Plethon's Opuscula de historia Graeca and Bruni's Commentarium rerum Graecarum: Rewriting Greek History Between the Byzantine and the Latin Renaissance.

323–351

Walter Seitter Wien, Austria

Plethon in Duplicate, in Triplicate ... The Question of Portraits

353–373

Post-Byzantine Plethon

- Brigitte Tambrun-Krasker CNRS, Paris, France
Are Psellos's and Plethon's Chaldaean Oracles Genuine? 375–389
- Paul Richard Blum Palacký University, Olomouc, Czech Republic
& Loyola University Maryland, USA
Plethon the First Philhellene: Re-enacting the Antiquity 391–413
- Niketas Siniosoglou Athens, Greece
Plethon and the Philosophy of Nationalism 415–431
- Jacek Raszewski Faculty of "Artes Liberales", University of Warsaw, Poland
George Gemistos Plethon and the Crisis of Modern Greek Identity 433–456
- Index 457–462