A Brief Summary of the Contents of This Exposition	81

The Exposition

A

The possibility of offense that is not related to Christ as Christ (the God-man) but to him simply as an individual human being who comes into collision with an established order

85

B

The possibility of essential offense in relation to loftiness, that an individual human being speaks or acts as if he were God, declares himself to be God, therefore in relation to the qualification "God" in the composition God-man

94

Addendum

101

C

The possibility of essential offense in relation to lowliness, that the one who passes himself off as God proves to be the lowly, poor, suffering, and finally powerless human being

102

Addendum 1

The Conclusion of B and C

120

The Categories of Offense, That Is, of Essential Offense

123

1. The God-Man Is a Sign
124
 2. The Form of a Servant Is Unrecognizability
(the Incognito)
127
 3. The Impossibility of Direct Communication
133
 4. In Christ the Secret of Sufferings Is the Impossibility of Direct Communication
136
 5. The Possibility of Offense Is to Deny Direct
Communication
139
 6. To Deny Direct Communication Is to Require Faith
140
 7. The Object of Faith Is the God-Man Precisely Because the God-Man Is the Possibility of Offense
