Contents

Preface xi

1 Setting the Scene: The Complexity of Nursing Practice 1
Background to the study 1
The invisibility of nursing 4
The bedside 5
The scope of nursing practice 6
Contested interests 7
Nurses organising the bedside 8

2 Organisation of Care within the Hospital Setting 10
Introduction 10
Royal University Hospital: first class medicine in a third world environment 10
Medicine as spectacle 11
The wards 12
Signs and charts 12
Ward personnel 14
Identity and accountability 15
The social: geriatric medicine 16
The patients 16
Family 18
Differentiating patients 19
Accessing a medical bed 20
Waiting 21
Appropriate patients 22
Inappropriate patients and the social 24
The reality of nursing 25
Discussion 28

3	Organising Ward Life	30
	Introduction	30
	Handovers: the division of labour and the labour of division	30
	Handing over Mrs Appleton	33
	The placing of patients	35
	Place signifying care	39
	Time, materials, routines: signalling care	40
	Nursing records	42
	The invisibility of caring at the bedside	43
	Discussion	47
4	The Nursing–Medical Relationship: Moving Patients through the Medical Domain	50
	Introduction	50
	Consultant ward rounds	51
	Asymmetries in power relations	52
	First class medicine: Mrs Marsh	53
	Mrs Adamson and the flowers: returning patient to person	59
	Pulling patients through beds: surveying the social	64
	Pushing patients through	67
	Discussion	69
5	Nurses' Conduct: Initiating Patients into the Social Organisation of the Medical Domain	74
	Introduction	74
	Doing admissions	74
	Effacing the social	76
	Structuring admissions	79
	Form-alities: method and the constitution of meanings	81
	Sticking to facts and defining need	82
	Disciplining patients, disciplining nurses	86
	Discussion	91
6	Assessing Patients' Needs	93
	Introduction	93
	Diagnosis: placing patients in the nurses' world	94
	Capability	96
	Age	100
	'Just by looking'	103
	Talking with patients: persuasion and the disposal of feelings	106
	'Quality of life'	109
	Discussion	112

7	Bedside Care and the Visibility of Nurses' Work	115
	Introduction	115
	Nurses: the conductors of care	115
	Nurses and the bedside	118
	The mundane work of nursing	120
	Any future for nursing?	122
Endnote		124
Appendix 1	Theoretical Nursing Assessment: the Construction of a Profession	127
Appendix 2	Older People and Acute Medicine	133
Appendix 3	Methods and Methodology	137
Appendix 4	The Nursing Records	142
Appendix 5	Ward Routines	149
Appendix 6	The Admission Procedure (from the Hospital Procedure Manual)	152
Appendix 7	Nursing Record Charts	153
Appendix 8	Examples of Nursing Records	158
References		161
Index		167