

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Acknowledgements	viii

Introduction
Libertarianism: an Outline	1
I The Entitlement Theory	2
II Setting the Scene	5
III The Rejection of Libertarianism	6
1 Libertarian Property	11
I Defining Property	12
II Analysis of Ownership	17
III Transferability	24
IV Positive and Negative Freedom	29
V Unrightful Action as Impediments	37
VI Active Interference vs. Non-Assistance	41
2 Persons	49
I The Principle of Self-Ownership	51
II The Fallacy of Exhaustive Ownership	57
III Consent and Treating as an End	62
IV Freedom and the Boundaries of Control	66
V Original Freedom and Income	69
VI Transferability and Non-Contractualness	73
3 Natural Resources	81
I Appropriation by Incorporation	83
II Appropriation by Extension	86
III Why Proviso?	93
IV Unilateral Powers of Acquisition	96
V The Multi-Dimensional Proviso	100
VI Initial Moral World-Status	113
4 Products	121
I The Problem of Joint Products	122
II Cooperation	127
III Joint Production and the Market	132
IV Fetishism and the Nozickian Formula	137
V To Each According to Contribution	142
VI To Each According to an Agreement	148

	Conclusion
5	Libertarianism: a Verdict	155
	I The Practical Implications	156
	II The Theoretical Consequences	160
	Bibliography	167
	Index	175