

Contents

The Pleasure of Garfinkel's Indexical Ways, by Charles Lemert	ix
Editor's Introduction	1
Author's Introduction	65
Author's Acknowledgments as an Autobiographical Account	77
Part I: What Is Ethnomethodology?
1 The Central Claims of Ethnomethodology	91
2 EM Studies and Their Formal Analytic Alternates	121
3 Rendering Theorems	135
4 Tutorial Problems	145
5 Ethnomethodological Policies and Methods	169
Part II: Instructed Action
6 Instructions and Instructed Actions	197
7 A Study of the Work of Teaching Undergraduate Chemistry in Lecture Format	219
8 Autochthonous Order Properties of Formatted Queues	245
9 An Ethnomethodological Study of the Work of Galileo's Inclined Plane Demonstration of the Real Motion of Free Falling Bodies	263
Index	287
About the Author and Editor	299