

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction: The Reappearing Self	1
I. ACTION AND THE UNITY OF CONSCIOUSNESS	25
1. Three Mistakes about Consciousness	27
2. Self-Consciousness, Spontaneity, and the Myth of the Giving	55
3. Unity, Objectivity, and Norms	88
4. Nonconceptual Self-Consciousness: Perspective, Access, and Agency	134
5. Unity, Neuropsychology, and Action	164
II. PERCEPTION AND ACTION	219
6. Wittgenstein on Practice and the Myth of the Giving	221
7. Content and Environment: Parallels between Perception and Action	245
8. Perception, Dynamic Feedback, and Externalism	285

9. Neuropsychology versus the Input-Output Picture	338
10. Alternative Views of Perception and Action	401
Appendix: Outline of the Arguments	447
Bibliography	467
Credits	491
Index	493