

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments / ix

Introduction / xiii

ONE / Scientific Culture in Europe and the Refugee Generation / 1

TWO / Germany and Weimar Berlin as the City of Science / 37

THREE / Origins of a Social Perspective:
Doing Physical Chemistry in Weimar Berlin / 85

FOUR / Chemical Dynamics and Social
Dynamics in Berlin and Manchester / 113

FIVE / Liberalism and the Economic Foundations of the "Republic of Science" / 145

SIX / Scientific Freedom and the Social Functions of Science / 183

SEVEN / Political Foundations of the Philosophies of Science of Popper, Kuhn, and Polanyi / 223

EIGHT / Personal Knowledge: Argument, Audiences, and Sociological Engagement / 259

EPILOGUE / SSK, Constructivism, and the Paradoxical
Legacy of Polanyi and the 1930s Generation / 295

List of Abbreviations / 307

Notes / 309

References / 355

Index / 393