	Preface		ix
1	The Basic Idea		1
	1	The Context-Relativity of Conditionals	3
	2	Conversations in the Abstract	9
	3	Primitive Contexts	12
	4	Multicontexts and Conditionals	16
	5	Indicative Conditionals versus Material Conditionals	24
	6	Subjunctive Conditionals	25
	7	Strong Assertibility	31
	8	Two Stipulations	33
	9	Foundations	36
	10	My Argumentative Strategy	45
2	The Concept of Logical Validity		47
	1	Arguments versus Inferences	49
	2	Validity as a Matter of Form	52
	3	The Model-Theoretic Conception of Validity	55
	4	The Context-Logical Conception of Logical Validity	73
	5	Does This Conception Do Any Better?	79
	6	Conditionals as Context-Relative Rules of Inference	82
3	A Catalog of Argument Forms		83
4	Critical Comparisons		127
	1	The Received View	130
	2	Stalnaker's Theory	135
	3	The Barwise–Lycan Theory	162
	4	Lowe's Theory	170
	5	Veltman's Theory	172

5	The Core Theory	177
	1 Definitions and Conditions	177
	2 Examples	181
	3 Some Basic Theorems	187
	4 A Key Result	192
	5 The Rationales for Certain Features	193
	6 Some Shortcomings of the Core Theory	203
6	Two Enhancements	205
	1 Strong Assertibility	205
	2 Conditional Tautologies	219
7	Subjunctive Conditionals	225
	1 The Grammatical Distinction	225
	2 The Formal Theory of Subjunctive Conditionals	241
	3 Examples	245
	4 A Couple of Enhancements	249
8	"Even If", et cetera	253
	1 "Even If"	254
	2 Quantified Conditionals	272
	3 "Only If"	277
	4 Order Effects	280
	5 Conditionals with Conditional Antecedents	284
9	Decidability	289
	1 Preliminaries	290
	2 The Algorithm	298
	3 Examples	312
	4 Why the Algorithm Works	314
	References	325
