

Contents

| | |
|--|-----|
| Acknowledgments | ix |
| Introduction | 1 |
| 1 Did evolution make us psychological egoists? | 8 |
| 2 Why not solipsism? | 28 |
| 3 The adaptive advantage of learning and a priori prejudice | 50 |
| 4 The primacy of truth-telling and the evolution of lying | 71 |
| 5 Prospects for an evolutionary ethics | 93 |
| 6 Contrastive empiricism | 114 |
| 7 Let's razor Ockham's razor | 136 |
| 8 The principle of the common cause | 158 |
| 9 Explanatory presupposition | 175 |
| 10 Apportioning causal responsibility | 184 |
| 11 Evolution, population thinking, and essentialism | 201 |
| 12 Temporally oriented laws | 233 |
| Index | 253 |