

Contents

Introduction: Two Ways to Encounter Kant	1
Two styles of historical philosophizing	2
This book's goals and strategies	5
The Pythagorean puzzle	7
Chapter 1  Intelligibility: From Direct Platonism to Concept Empiricism	11
Universals and modes of being	11
Structure in the realm of intelligibles	13
Concept Empiricism	19
Synthetic a priori judgments	26
Chapter 2  Epistemic Legitimacy: Experiential Unity,             First Principles, and Strategy K	32
Empirical deductions and transcendental deductions	34
Neo-Humean empiricism: two sorts of epistemic authority	36
Anti-skeptical initiatives: strategic alternatives	41
Tertium quid rationalism vs Strategy K	47
The experiencing subject: a constitutive end	53
Chapter 3  The World from a Point of View: Space and Time	61
Space, the form of outer sense	64
Time, the form of inner sense	69
The transcendental ideality of space and time	77
Is Kant right about space and time?	83
Chapter 4  Concepts and Categories: Transcendental Logic             and the Metaphysical Deduction	88
Transcendental logic	89
A new theory of concepts	91
Intuitions revisited: Cartesian perception and Kantian perception	94
The Forms of Judgment	97
The Table of Categories	101

Chapter 5	Perceptual Synthesis: From Sensations to Objects	108
	A phenomenology of perception	109
	The "threefold synthesis"	112
	Transcendental apperception, rules, and concepts	117
	Objects of representation	125
	Apperception and inner sense	136
Chapter 6	Schemata and Principles: From Pure Concepts to Objective Judgments	140
	The unity of perception	141
	Schemata: some puzzles	143
	Schemata: some solutions	146
	Homogeneity: two ways to "apply a concept"	150
	Schematizing the categories	151
	A priori principles	156
Chapter 7	Synchronic Manifolds: The Axioms and Anticipations	162
	An item in an environment	163
	Extensive magnitude	166
	Intensive magnitude	170
	Continuity and its consequences	172
Chapter 8	Diachronic Manifolds: The Analogies of Experience	177
	Philosophical analogies	178
	The Auditory Model	181
	Change in the Auditory Model	183
	Substance in the Auditory Model	188
	Causality in the Auditory Model	191
	Space in the Auditory Model	196
Chapter 9	Duration and Persistence: Substance in the Analogies	199
	Hume on identity and duration	199
	Persistence, alteration, and change	203
	Substance as object and substance as matter	206
	Substance in action	212

Chapter 10	Succession and Simultaneity: Causation in the Analogies	215
	Successive apprehendings: the problem	216
	Successive apprehendings: Kant's solution	218
	Simultaneous causation	225
	Reciprocal causation	231
Chapter 11	The World as Actual: The Postulates and the Refutation of Idealism	234
	Real possibility and material necessity	234
	The many faces of idealism	237
	Idealism refuted	241
	Idealism from within	242
	Phenomena and noumena	248
Chapter 12	The Thinking Self as an Idea of Reason: The Paralogisms	254
	The very idea of an idea of reason	254
	The "I" who thinks	258
	Dissolving the transcendental illusion	264
Chapter 13	Reason in Conflict with Itself: A Brief Look at the Antinomies	269
	In search of world-concepts	269
	The necessary conflicts of cosmological ideas	273
	The arguments of the First Antinomy	274
	Reason's interests and reason's attitudes	279
	Unraveling the Antinomies	282
	The First Antinomy resolved	292
	... and a quick glance at the other three	294
	Epilogue: The Rest of the First Critique	297
	Bibliography: Works Cited and Suggestions for Further Reading	299
	Index	303