

CONTENTS

Abbreviations      xiii

Introduction: The Question of Ethics      1

PART ONE. MILL AND THE ETHICS OF HAPPINESS      15

1. A First Look at Mill's Hedonism      17
2. Mill's Arguments for Hedonism      26
3. Pleasure as Reason for Action      33
4. What is Pleasure?      41
5. Universalistic Consequentialism      47
6. Utilitarian Revisionism      54
7. Utilitarianism and Freedom      64

PART TWO. KANT AND THE ETHICS OF DUTY      75

8. Morality and Religion      77
9. The Good Will and the Motive of Duty      83
10. The Moral Law and Kant's Formalism      92
11. Rule- and Act-deontology      108
12. Man as an End in Itself      118
13. Freedom as Autonomy      132

PART THREE. SARTRE AND THE ETHICS OF SUBJECTIVE COMMITMENT      143

14. Some Comparisons and Conclusions      145
15. Subjectivity and Intersubjectivity      149
16. Freedom, Facts, and Values      157
17. Anguish, Forlornness, and Despair      168
18. Sartre on the Emotions      178

19. Emotions as Judgements	184
20. The Existentialist Ethics	193
Further Reading	201
Index	203