Part One

THE PROBLEM AND THE MAIN LINES OF ITS SOLUTION

Chapter

I. THE NECESSITY OF FAITH: A PAINFUL AND PERPLEXING PROBLEM . . . . .	3
1. Unbelievers . . . . .	4
Apostates—Heretics—Schismatics—Jews—Heathen.
2. The torturing question . . . . .	7
3. The problem facing missionaries and apologists . . . . .	9
II. UNACCEPTABLE SOLUTIONS OF THE PROBLEM. . . . .	12
1. Lax and rigorist solutions . . . . .	12
Laxity—Rigorism.
2. Vain attempts to avoid the difficulty . . . . .	14
The evangelization of the dead—The limbo of adults—Hell made tolerable—Adults not morally adult.
III. THE FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES OF THE SOLUTION . . . . .	25
1. The necessity of faith means precisely the necessity of the act of faith . . . . .	26
Terminology—Necessity of habitual faith—Necessity of the act of faith.
2. God desires the salvation of all men. . . . .	34
The doctrine—The proofs.
3. The certainty of the universal possibility of faith. . . . .	37
Remote and proximate possibility of faith—Contrasting aspects of the third principle.

Part Two

INDISPENSABLE FAITH

INTRODUCTORY NOTE . . . . .	45
I. THE NATURE OF INDISPENSABLE FAITH . . . . .	46
1. Explanations of the concept of faith . . . . .	46
Certainty of faith and certainty of reason—Some characteristics of the certainty of faith—Strict faith and broad faith.

Chapter	Page
2. Indispensable faith is faith " in the strict sense " . The doctrine of the Church—The proofs.	51
3. Vain attempts to re-state faith " in the broad sense " . . . . . The supernatural nature of the act—The desire for strict faith—Discussion of the faith " in voto ".	54
II. CERTAINTIES OF FAITH INDISPENSABLE FOR SALVATION .	66
1. The certainties of faith which are required by necessity of precept . . . . .	66
2. Indispensable faith in God the Rewarder . . . . . The classical text on indispensable faith—Indispensable faith in God the Rewarder.	69
3. Certainties of faith discussed according to their necessity . . . . . Faith in the Mediator—The position of modern theologians.	75
4. A note on the trusting faith of Protestants. . . . .	80
5. The justice of God's requirement of faith . . . . . The reason for insistence on strict faith—The reason for insistence on belief in the Rewarder.	81
III. CERTAINTIES OF REASON INDISPENSABLE FOR SALVATION .	87
1. Rational knowledge of God . . . . . Why must God be known?—What must we know about God?	87
2. Knowledge of the fact of revelation . . . . . Why must revelation be known?—How revelation can be ascertained.	92
3. When must these certainties be held? . . . . .	96
IV. THE TYPE OF CERTAINTY WHICH PREPARES THE WAY FOR FAITH . . . . .	98
1. Explanations of the various types of certainty . . . . . Absolute certainty and relative certainties—Examples of different types of certainty—Relative certainty and the sin of imprudence.	99
2. Assents which are certainly insufficient, and assents which are certainly sufficient to prepare the way for faith . . . . . Insufficient assents—Assents which are certainly sufficient.	103

Chapter	Page
3. Discussion of "merely relative" certainty.	107
The terms of the question—The reasons for the broader theory—The reasons for the more exacting theory—The more generous theory defended from objections—Our own views in this matter.
V. CONCLUSIONS ON INDISPENSABLE FAITH	123
Part Three
FAITH IS UNIVERSALLY POSSIBLE
INTRODUCTORY NOTE	129
I. ASCERTAINABLE ASPECTS OF THE POSSIBILITY OF FAITH	131
1. Possibilities we do not claim to illustrate	131
Possibility of faith as a supernatural act—Subjective possibility of faith—Possibility of faith for every individual soul.
2. The possibility of faith which we intend to illustrate	138
II. THE UNIVERSAL POSSIBILITY OF THE KNOWLEDGE OF GOD	141
1. The objective knowledge of God attained by the light of reason	142
Philosophical discussion—Theological discussion.
2. Is atheism possible?	146
3. Philosophical discussion of negative atheism	148
Various arguments that may be mustered—The argument from the moral conscience—Summing up of the discussion.
4. Philosophical discussion of positive atheism.	160
Various arguments that may be mustered—Result of the discussion.
5. Theological discussion of atheism	163
The strict theory and its arguments—The opinions of theologians today—Result of the discussion.
6. Summary	176
III. THE UNIVERSAL POSSIBILITY OF THE KNOWLEDGE OF REVELATION	179
1. The royal road: the Catholic Church	181
The knowledge of revelation—The type of certainty about revelation.
2. The revelation of Christ among separated Christians	187
The knowledge of revelation—The type of certainty about revelation.

Chapter	Page
3. The revelation of the people of Israel . . . . .	190
The knowledge of revelation—The type of certainty about revelation.
4. The revelation of the two Testaments outside Christianity and Hebraism . . . . .	192
The knowledge of revelation—The type of certainty about revelation.
5. The original revelation . . . . .	200
The knowledge of revelation—Some historical illustrations—The type of certainty about revelation.
6. The pseudo-revelations . . . . .	214
The knowledge of revelation—Discussion of the new theory.
7. Individual illuminations. . . . .	224
The notion of individual ways of salvation—Interior inspiration—Individual revelation.
IV. SPECIAL POSSIBILITIES OF FAITH AT THE DAWN AND SUNSET OF LIFE . . . . .	234
1. The dawn of reason and the possibility of faith . . . . .	234
The doctrine of St Thomas—Discussion of the first part of the theory—Discussion of the second part of the theory.
2. The sunset of life and the possibility of faith . . . . .	246
Faith made possible after death—Faith universally possible in death—Glorieux's theory about the psychology of death—The proofs of Glorieux's theory—The instant of death, according to Glorieux—Discussion of Glorieux's theory—Legitimate hopes concerning the moment of death.
V. OUR CONCLUSIONS CONCERNING THE UNIVERSAL POSSIBILITY OF FAITH . . . . .	267
1. The three certainties which we have shown to be possible . . . . .	268
2. The universal possibility of knowledge of revelation, according to the various theological hypotheses . . . . .	269
If we require well-founded certainty. . . .—If purely relative certainty is sufficient. . . .
3. All may believe . . . . .	274
Our conclusions and religious indifferentism—Our conclusions and the operation of grace.

Part Four

THE UNBELIEVERS AND OURSELVES

Chapter	Page
INTRODUCTION . . . . .	283
I. RAYS OF HOPE CONCERNING THE HONESTY OF UNBELIEVERS . . . . .	285
1. Our reasons for speaking first of hopes . . . . .	285
The teaching function of the Church—The practical opportunity for missionaries and apologists.
2. Hopes for the unbaptized . . . . .	288
If there is indispensable faith . . .—If faith has been there, and has died out . . .—If faith has always been lacking . . .
3. Hopes for baptized non-Catholics . . . . .	299
The baptized and grace, in general—The baptized and grace, with regard to the necessity of faith.
4. Serene conclusions. . . . .	303
II. FEARS AND HOPES FOR THE SPECIAL CASE OF THE APOSTATES . . . . .	307
1. The delicacy of the problem . . . . .	307
2. Very grave fears for apostates . . . . .	310
The question in itself—The question of Vatican definition of this doctrine.
3. Is there any ray of hope left? . . . . .	319
The attenuating factor of religious ignorance—The eventual justification of the apostate—The possible sincerity of apostates.
III. FEARS CONCERNING THE SIN OF UNBELIEVERS. . . . .	326
1. Fears concerning unbelievers, and apostolic zeal. . . . .	326
2. Fears for unbelievers, arising from consideration of the obligation of faith . . . . .	329
Atheists—Theists without faith—Believers with insufficient faith—Believers, but apostates.
3. Fears for unbelievers, with regard to obligations other than that of faith . . . . .	335
Sufficient faith, but without works—Works, but without charity—Charity, but without perseverance.
IV. THE DUTY TO CONVERT THE UNBELIEVER . . . . .	342
1. To convert the unbeliever for love of the unbeliever . . . . .	342
To save souls—To sanctify souls.

Chapter	Page
2. To convert the unbeliever for love of God . . . . .	347
To carry out Jesus's plan—To glorify Jesus and, through him, the Father.
3. To convert the unbeliever for love of ourselves . . . . .	351
To increase grace in ourselves—To acquire merit for heaven—The joy of the apostolate.
