

Contents

Author's Note and Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
Psychoanalysis, psychology and science	1
Of subjects and subjectivity	5
The book	7
1 Models of the Mind	11
Explaining mental phenomena	11
The semantics of experience	15
Reductionism	19
Artificial minds	28
The Chinese room	33
Mental contents	43
The meaning of meaning	48
Conclusion	61
2 The Internal History of the Child	63
The psychoanalytic method	67
The psychoanalytic child	75
Growing knowledge	85
Creating a social being	97
Conclusion: the problems of linkage	105
3 Words and Meanings	111
Operants and universals	113
Constructions and pragmatics	120
Representation, structure and meaning	129
Language and the unconscious	134
Language and desire	142
Conclusion	156

4	Gender Differences, Sexual Difference	159
	Constructionist discourse	162
	Terms of investigation	166
	Biological dispositions	167
	Social learning theory of gender socialisation	172
	Androgyny	176
	Gendered ideas	182
	Sexual difference	189
	Complex division	193
	Symbol and sexuality	201
5	The Racist Subject	207
	Reductionism and social explanation	207
	The racist heritage	210
	Racism and prejudice	215
	Modernity and fragmentation	227
	The authoritarian personality	230
	Projection, identity and conspiracy	237
	Sex and the Other	242
	Sexual terror and the masculine order	246
	Conclusion	248
	Conclusion: The Different Subject	250
	References	257
	Index	268