

CONTENTS

Preface	9
----------------	---

INTRODUCTION

1 Self-involving language and Creation	11
2 Ordinary language and biblical language	15
3 Biblical language, biblical theology and philosophical analysis	18

I · SELF-INVOLVING ELEMENTS IN EVERYDAY LANGUAGE

1 THE PERFORMATIVE FORCE OF LANGUAGE
1 Performatives and Infelicities	27
2 A classification of performatives	30
2.1 Constatives	30
2.2 Commissives	32
2.3 Exercitives	33
2.4 Behabitives	34
2.5 Verdictives	36
3 Autobiographical reporting	40
4 'Acknowledge': an important autobiographical-performative verb	41
5 Non-explicit performatives	44
6 The implications and commitments of performatives	46
6.1 Classification of implications	46
6.2 Classification of commitments	52
6.3 Performative force: words, context and speaker	54
7 Performative language, self-involving language and 'evaluative' language	55
7.1 The 'autonomy of value'	56
7.2 Performatives and entailment	59
7.2.1 Entailment between explicit performatives	60
7.2.2 Entailment and non-explicit performatives	62
7.2.3 Entailment and different performative forces	64
7.3 The 'autonomy of value' and freedom	64
8 Institutional-relation words	66
9 Performative force and causal power	68
9.1 Performative force and meaning	69
9.2 Use: performative and causal	70
9.3 Exercitives and causal power	71

10	A summary	74
11	Non-verbal performatives and correlative performatives	75
	11.1 Non-verbal performatives	75
	11.2 Correlative performatives	76
2	EXPRESSIONS OF FEELING
1	Expressions of feeling, opinion and intention	80
2	The range of feelings	85
	2.1 A classification of feelings	85
	2.2 Feelings and attitudes	86
3	Feeling-revealing behaviour (FRB): symptoms, manifestations, expressions and reports	88
	3.1 Expressive FRB contrasted with reportive FRB	89
	3.2 A four-fold classification of FRB	93
	3.3 Manifestive and expressive FRB contrasted with symptomatic FRB	95
	3.4 Manifestive FRB contrasted with reportive FRB	96
	3.5 Expressive FRB contrasted with manifestive FRB	99
	3.5.1 Spontaneous versus artificial FRB	100
	3.5.2 Reportive use of unlearned FRB	100
	3.5.3 FRB and the classification of feelings	101
	3.5.4 The meaning of expressive FRB	103
4	Expressive language	106
	4.1 Feeling-words, Aptness-words, Behabitive words, and exclamatory words	106
	4.2 Expressive language and impersonal language	108
5	A note concerning 'rapportive' language	110
3	EXPRESSIONS OF ATTITUDE
1	Four sorts of attitude	116
	1.1 Feeling-attitudes	116
	1.2 Behaviour-attitudes	118
	1.3 Opinion-attitudes	120
	1.4 Intention-attitudes	121
	1.5 Various elements in attitudes	122
	1.6 Expressions of attitude	123
2	'Onlooks'	124
	2.1 Some common features of onlooks	126
	2.2 Classification of onlooks	129
	2.3 Onlooks and the 'autonomy of value'	135
	2.4 Onlooks and actions	137

II · SELF-INVOLVING ELEMENTS IN THE BIBLICAL CONCEPTION OF CREATION

4	CREATION AS A PERFORMATIVE ACTION
1	The creation of Israel by miracle and covenant	145

1.1	Creation as miracle	146
1.2	Creation as covenant	147
1.2.1	Creation with subordinate status	147
1.2.2	Creation with a role	148
1.2.3	Creation and valuation	149
1.2.4	Creation as Yahweh's self-commitment	151
2	World-Creation by the word	151
2.1	Creation with subordinate status	152
2.2	Creation with a role	153
2.3	Creation and valuation	155
2.4	Creation as Yahweh's self-commitment	157
2.5	Divine word and human word	158
2.6	The biblical context for man's word concerning Creation	160
2.7	Language as activity: interpretations in biblical theology and analytic philosophy	162
3	New Testament Ideas of Creation	165
3.1	Jesus as the Creative Word of God	165
3.2	The divine Spirit as Creator	168
4	The authority of the Creator	170
5	CREATION AS AN IMPRESSIVE AND EXPRESSIVE ACTION
1	Israel's creation as a revelation of God's glory and holiness	174
1.1	The biblical conceptions of divine glory and holiness	175
1.1.1	Glory	175
1.1.2	Holiness	179
1.2	Glory and holiness as impressive qualities	183
1.3	Glory and holiness as expressive qualities	185
1.4	Differences between 'glory' and 'holiness'	189
2	World-Creation as a revelation of God's glory	190
2.1	World-Creation as a continuous action	191
2.2	God's glory and human onlooks	193
2.3	World-Creation, glory and man's knowledge of God	196
2.3.1	The biblical conception of the knowledge of God	197
2.3.2	Paul's argument in Rom. 1.18-32	201
3	Jesus as the revelation of God's glory	204
3.1	The New Testament account of Jesus as the revelation of God's glory	204
3.2	The revelation of God's glory in Jesus: an expressive and impressive action	209
3.2.1	Jesus is irreplaceable	209
3.2.2	Jesus is unique	209
3.2.3	Jesus is divine	210
3.2.4	'Like knows like'	211

4	The mystery of God's intention in world-Creation	213
4.1	The Old Testament and the rationale of world-Creation	213
4.2	Jesus, the mystery of God	215
6	CREATION AS A CAUSAL ACTION
1	The structure of biblical parables	220
1.1	Relational parables	221
1.2	Transcendental parables	223
2	'Causal' parables of Creation	228
2.1	The parable of the potter	228
2.2	The parable of the victor	230
3	The causal power of the Creative word	233
Continuous Creation		238
Creation as an event 'in the beginning'		242
Parables and the reality of divine action		249
7	SOME FURTHER PROBLEMS
1	The difference between religious and secular onlooks	253
2	The relation between linguistic and existential self-involvement	257
3	The modern Christian basis for belief in world-Creation	262
3.1	Nature as the basis	263
3.2	Jesus as the basis	266
	Bibliography	269
	Index of References	277
	Index of Subjects	284
	Index of Authors	292