

CONTENTS

Introduction	I
I The Misadventures of Empiricism	5
1 The initial misunderstanding
2 The empirical complex
3 The epistemological misadventure
4 The misadventure of subject-object parallelism
5 Misadventure in a crucial instance: 'intuition'
6 On avoiding further misadventures
Appendix to I: Professor Braithwaite, Empiricism     and Religion	32
II Prolegomena to an Empirical Philosophy of Religion	38
1 Where to start?
2 The assay of religious experience
3 The integrity of the intellectual component
4 Imagery and the intellectual component
5 A preview of the intellectual component
6 The intellectual component and personal religion
7 Corrigitibility and faith
III The Empirical Fringes	57
1 The need for metaphysics
2 Prolongations
3 Order and creativity: the drift to order
4 Order and creativity: the drift to creativity
5 The constitutive factors and their limitations
6 More here, less there?
IV Values as Fringes	80
1 Religion and moral autonomy
2 The moral frontier
3 Morality and the will of God
4 Interpreting omnipotence

	5	The completion of the person
	6	Overlap and distance
	7	Involvement in time
	8	The counter-evidence
	9	Provisional summary
V		On Proving the Existence of God	107
	1	All proofs are self-contradictory: the philosophical version
	2	All proofs are self-contradictory: the religious version
VI		The Traditional Proofs	122
	1	The ontological argument
	2	Anselm's twentieth-century comeback
	3	The cosmological argument
	4	Descartes and a revised cosmological argument
	5	The argument from design
	6	'Cosmic teleology'
	7	'The fitness of the environment'
VII		An Analysis of Faith	159
	1	'First faith'
	2	'First faith' and faith in God
	3	'Faith in' and 'faith that'
	4	Assent
	5	Faith and belief
	6	Faith, freedom and the counter-evidence
	7	Freedom and identification
	8	The consecration of suffering
VIII		Faith and Practice	208
	1	What is action?
	2	Extending 'verification'
	3	Thought into action
	4	Thought and abstraction
	5	Verification and faith
	6	Verification and ethics
	7	Practice to concept?
	8	The viability of the Christian ethic
	9	The moral argument for God
IX		Return to Metaphysics	238
	1	Metaphysics after faith
	2	Ens necessarium

- 3 God and body
- 4 Transcendence
- 5 Tension
- 6 Goodness
- 7 The divine concern
- 8 Miracles and immortality
- 9 Conclusion

Index of Names

275

Index of Subjects

278