

TABLE OF SELECTIONS.

	PAGES.
	Text. Notes.
CHARMIDES (155 E—158 E).
A Cure for a Headache	1 ... 230
LYSIS (207 D—210 D).
Why do people put trust in us, and like us?	5 ... 232
LACHES (182 D—184 A).
A Professor of Arms	9 ... 234
PROTAGORAS (310 A—316 A).
The Gathering of the Sophists	11 ... 236
ION (533 C—535 A).
The Poet inspired by the Gods	19 ... 243
APOLOGY (the whole).
The Defence of Socrates before his Judges	21 ... 245
CRITO (the whole).
Socrates will not listen to Crito, who offers him the means of escape	55 ... 264
PHAEDO (beginning—69 E).
Socrates about to die	72 ... 269
(114 D to end).
The Death of Socrates	90 ... 275
SYMPOSIUM (215 A—216 C).
The Praise of Socrates by Alcibiades	95 ... 277
(220 C—222 A).
The same continued. Socrates in the Field	97 ... 278

	PAGES.
	Text.	Notes.
PHAEDRUS (228 A—230 E).
A walk by the Ilissus	100	280
(245 C—249 D).
The Figure of the Soul. The Procession of the Gods	104	282
(258 D—259 D).
The Cicadae	109	286
(274 B—275 B).
Theuth	111	287
CRATYLUS (425 B—428 D).
The Imitative Power of Letters	112	288
GORGIAS (511 C—512 B).
The Pilot	117	294
(521 C to end [527 E]).
The Judgment of the Dead	118	295
ALCIBIADES I (120 E—124 B).
Who is Alcibiades, compared with the Kings of Sparta, or with the Great King?	127	299
REPUBLIC I (beginning—331 D).
A Calm Old Age	132	304
II. (376 E—end).
The Tales of the Poets about the Gods, not to be endured in the new State	138	311
III. (405 C—408 C).
Physic and Surgery to be Heroic	147	318
(414 B—end).
The 'Noble Lie'	150	323
V. (472 B—474 B).
The Philosopher must be King, or the King Phi- losopher	154	325
VI. (487 A—489 C).
The Apologue of the Pilot	157	327
VII. (beginning—520 E).
The Simile of the Cave	160	330

	PAGES.
	Text.	Notes.
REPUBLIC VIII. (557 A—558 C).
Democracy	168	336
(562 A—563 E).
Democracy becomes Anarchy	170	337
IX. (588 A—end).
The Soul compared to a multiform Creature. The Duty of the Just Man. The Eternal Pattern of our City	172	339
X. (613 E—end).
The Tale of Er, the Son of Armenius	177	342
TIMAEUS (20 D—26 E).
The Tale of Atlantis	187	353
PHILEBUS (15 C—17 A).
The Young Man 'bitten' by Logic	195	361
THEAETETUS (172 C—177 C).
The Philosopher and the Rhetorician	197	364
LAWS I (644 D—645 C).
We are but puppets of the Gods	204	370
III. (676 A—682 E).
Periodical Catastrophes of the World. The Origin of Society	205	373
IV. (719 C—720 E).
Our Laws to be not merely imperative, but per- suasive	215	385
VII. (816 D—817 D).
Comedy to be acted by slaves. Tragedy to be referred to our Magistrates	217	387
X. (887 C—891 A).
Atheism a disease of the young mind, to be cured by persuasion and patience	219	388