

CONTENTS

	PAGE
FOREWORD	ix
INTRODUCTION	xiii

PART ONE

POLITICAL MYTHS

CHAPTER I. THE MYTH OF THE LEFT	3
The Retrospective Myth – Dissociation of Values – The Dialectic of Régimes – Idea and Reality
CHAPTER II. THE MYTH OF THE REVOLUTION	35
Revolution and Revolutions – The Prestige of the Revolution – Revolt and Revolution – Revolution in France ?
CHAPTER III. THE MYTH OF THE PROLETARIAT	66
The Proletariat Defined – Real and Ideal Emancipation – The Attraction of Ideal Emancipation – The Dullness of Real Emancipation
CONCERNING POLITICAL OPTIMISM	94

PART TWO

THE IDOLATRY OF HISTORY

CHAPTER IV. CHURCHMEN AND THE FAITHFUL	105
The Infallibility of the Party – Revolutionary Idealism – Trials and Confessions – Revolutionary ‘Justice’
CHAPTER V. THE MEANING OF HISTORY	135
Plurality of Meanings – Historical Units – The End of History – History and Fanaticism

	PAGE
CHAPTER VI. THE ILLUSION OF NECESSITY	161
The Determination of Chance – Theoretical Predictions –     Historical Predictions – On the Dialectic
THE CONTROL OF HISTORY	191
PART THREE
THE ALIENATION OF THE INTELLECTUALS
CHAPTER VII. THE INTELLECTUALS AND THEIR HOMELAND	203
On the Intelligentsia – Politics and the Intelligentsia –     The Intellectuals' Paradise – The Intellectuals' Hell
CHAPTER VIII. THE INTELLECTUALS AND THEIR IDEOLOGIES	236
The Basic Factors – The National Debates – The     Japanese Intellectuals and the French Example – India     and British Influence
CHAPTER IX. THE INTELLECTUALS IN SEARCH OF A RELIGION	265
Economic Opinion or Secular Religion – Militants and     Sympathisers – From Civil Religion to Stalinism – Secular     Clericalism
THE DESTINY OF THE INTELLECTUALS	295
CONCLUSION
THE END OF THE IDEOLOGICAL AGE?	305