

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	xv
Abbreviations	xvii

Introduction: Rawls's original position	1
---	---

The basics of justice as fairness	3
The agenda: claims modelled by the original position	9
The conception of the person	10
Asocial individualism	13
Universalism	19
Subjectivism or objectivism	21
Anti-perfectionism and neutrality	25

PART I
COMMUNITARIAN
CRITIQUES	35

INTRODUCTION	37
---------------------	----

1 Sandel: the limits of liberalism	40
---	----

Liberalism and deontology	42
Rawls's theory of the person	45

The original position	47
The flaws in Rawls's theory of the person	50
Liberalism and moral subjectivism	55
The difference principle	59
Agreement in the original position	63
The limits of liberalism	66
2 MacIntyre: morality after virtue	70
The predicament of contemporary morality	71
The emotivist self	74
The Enlightenment project	77
Aristotle and the virtues	80
The concept of a practice	82
The narrative unity of a human life	86
The concept of a tradition	89
MacIntyre and liberalism	92
3 Taylor: the sources of the liberal self	101
The status of moral intuitions	102
The self in moral space	105
Selves and self-interpretations	107
The self and the community	110
Orientation and narration	112
Hypergoods and practical reasoning	114
The priority of right	118
Taylor and the communitarian critique of Rawls	120
4 Walzer: justice and abstraction	127
Rawls's methodological abstraction	129
Against methodological abstraction: the conceptual argument	132
Against methodological abstraction: the democratic argument	134
The relativity of social meanings	139
Complex equality	146
The desirability of complex equality	151
Walzer contra Rawls	154

Concluding summary	157
Family resemblances: the criticisms of liberalism	157
Family resemblances: the communitarianism of the critics	160
PART II RAWLS'S RESPONSE	165
5 Rawls's political liberalism	167
Justice as fairness as political	170
Society as a fair system of cooperation between free and equal citizens	173
Why political?	181
Eliminating two reasons: not scepticism or pragmatism	183
Public justifiability and political values	189
Rawls the communitarian	198
Non-political community and identity	199
Political liberalism as communitarianism	201
6 Political liberalism: for and against	206
Respecting the limits of the political	206
Defending the limits of the political	220
PART III LIBERALISM, POLITICS AND PERFECTION	227
INTRODUCTION	229
7 Rorty: liberalism without foundations	232
Foundational theories of the person	235
Alien vocabularies	237
Concepts, truth and reality	239
Communitarianism and correspondence	242
Metaphysics and politics	244

8 Raz: the politics of perfection	249
Raz's perfectionist autonomy	252
Ideals qua valid not qua beliefs: perfectionism against scepticism	255
Not coercive imposition	260
Autonomy and value pluralism	264
Autonomy, social forms and state perfectionism	267
Well-being depends on social forms	267
Social forms require perfectionist political action	272
Autonomy only conditionally valuable	281
Raz and communitarianism	282
CONCLUSION	289
Bibliography	295
Index	298