

CONTENTS

PREFACE	ix
INTRODUCTION	1

Part I Religious Belief

Introduction	12
A. Arguments for the Existence of God
1. ST. ANSELM: The Inconceivability of God's Nonexistence	22
2. ST. THOMAS AQUINAS: From Nature to God	27
3. DAVID HUME: A Critique of the Argument from Design	30
B. Religious Experience
4. WILLIAM JAMES: Are Men Ever Directly Aware of God?	47
5. BERTRAND RUSSELL: A Skeptical View of Mysticism	62
6. HUSTON SMITH: Drugs and Religious Experience	67
C. Difficulties in Theistic Belief
7. ERNEST NAGEL: The Case for Atheism	76
8. DAVID HUME: God and Evil	88
9. JOHN HICK: A Christian View of the Problem of Evil	96
10. ANTONY FLEW: Can Religious Beliefs Be Tested Empirically?	101
11. JOHN HICK: The Verification of Belief in God	104
Suggested Readings	118

Part II Value and Obligation

Introduction	122
A. Ethical Relativism
12. RUTH F. BENEDICT: An Anthropologist's View of Values and Morality	132
B. Meaning and Justification of Ethical Statements
13. FRANK C. SHARP: The Ideal Observer Theory	138
14. BRAND BLANSHARD: The Good, the Right, Desire, and Pleasure	143
15. THOMAS REID: Nonnaturalism: Intuitive Knowledge of Ethical Facts	150
16. ALFRED J. AYER: A Noncognitive Theory	159

C. Types of Normative Ethics
17. ARISTOTLE: The Good Life Is Rational Activity	168
18. JOHN STUART MILL: A Form of Hedonism and Utilitarianism	180
19. FRIEDRICH NIETZSCHE: A Form of Egoism	198
20. BRIAN MEDLIN: Egoism Claimed Inconsistent	204
21. JESSE KALIN: A Defense of Egoism	211
22. WILLIAM D. ROSS: Many Self-Evident Obligations	220
23. IMMANUEL KANT: Right Acts Must Be Universalizable	231
D. The Rationality of Being Moral
24. KURT BAIER: It Is Rational to Act Morally	242
25. WILLIAM K. FRANKENA: Reasons for Acting Morally	247
Suggested Readings	250

Part III The Appraisal of Governments and Political Actions

Introduction	258
A. Governmental Authority and Individual Liberty
26. THOMAS HOBBS: An Egoist's Justification of Unlimited Monarchy	263
27. JOHN LOCKE: Consent and Natural Law the Sources of Limited Powers of Governments	275
28. JOHN STUART MILL: The Justification of Political Democracy	288
29. JOHN STUART MILL: The Scope of the Right to Freedom	295
30. VLADIMIR I. LENIN: The State in Communist Theory	310
B. Civil Disobedience and Revolution
31. PLATO: Is There a Moral Obligation to Obey the Law?	325
32. RUDOLPH H. WEINGARTNER: When Is Civil Disobedience Justified?	331
33. HERBERT MARCUSE: When Revolution Is Morally Justified	342
Suggested Readings	352

Part IV Free Will and Determinism

Introduction	358
34. BARON D'HOLBACH: Determinism Rules Out Free Will	367
35. C. A. CAMPBELL: Free Will Rules Out Determinism	377
36. R. E. HOBART: The Harmony of Free Will and Determinism	391
37. JOHN HOSPERS: Psychoanalysis and Moral Responsibility	408
38. CARL GINET: Decision and Prediction	419
39. ALVIN I. GOLDMAN: Predictability and Determinism	424
Suggested Readings	444

Part V Mind and Body

Introduction	448
A. Consciousness and the Brain
40. RENÉ DESCARTES: Skepticism and Dualism	463
41. T. H. HUXLEY: The Dependence of Consciousness on the Brain	483
42. GILBERT RYLE: Mind as Behavioral Disposition	494
43. J. J. C. SMART: Sensations Are Brain Processes	506
44. A. M. TURING: Can Machines Think?	513
45. NORMAN MALCOLM: A Critique of Materialism	531
B. Personal Identity
46. JOHN LOCKE: Memory as the Basis of Personal Identity	538
47. THOMAS REID: A Critique of Locke on Personal Identity	544
C. Immortality
48. BERTRAND RUSSELL: Science and Immortality: A Negative Report	551
49. C. D. BROAD: Paranormal Phenomena and Human Survival	555
Suggested Readings	565

Part VI The Structure of Knowledge

Introduction	570
A. Skepticism and the Foundations of Knowledge
50. BERTRAND RUSSELL: An Empiricist Answer to Skepticism	585
B. Is There Knowledge Not Based on Observation?
51. IMMANUEL KANT: The Concept of Synthetic A Priori Knowledge, and the Nature of Mathematics	592
52. JOHN STUART MILL: Logic and Mathematics Based on Observation	603
53. ALFRED J. AYER: Only Analytic Statements Are Knowable A Priori	613
C. Types of Inductive Inference and Their Justification
54. BERTRAND RUSSELL: The Problem of Induction	624
55. PAUL EDWARDS: Bertrand Russell's Doubts About Induction	630
56. HANS REICHENBACH: A Pragmatic Justification of Inductive Policy	640
57. WILLIAM KNEALE: The Nature and Justification of Hypothetical Reasoning	647
D. Knowledge of Other Minds
58. JOHN STUART MILL: Extrapolative Induction Can Justify Beliefs About the Mental States of Other Persons	659
59. H. H. PRICE: An Application of Hypothetical Reasoning: The Conscious States of Other Persons	661
Suggested Readings	667

Part VII Perceiving the Material World

Introduction	672
60. C. D. BROAD: The Concept of Sense-Data	679
61. JOHN LOCKE: Sense Experiences Caused by Objects	688
62. GEORGE BERKELEY: Material Things Are Experiences of Men or God	700
63. C. H. WHITELEY: Phenomenalism: Its Grounds and Difficulties	710
64. W. H. F. BARNES: There Are No Sense-Data	722
Suggested Readings	732
ANTHOLOGIES	735
INDEX	737