

CONTENTS

LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	xi
TABLE OF CASES CITED	xv

PART I

THE ANALYSIS OF CAUSAL CONCEPTS

INTRODUCTION	1
I. PHILOSOPHICAL PRELIMINARIES	8
I. Particular and General	8
II. Hume and Mill	12
III. Defects of Mill's Analysis	20
II. CAUSATION AND COMMON SENSE	24
I. The Variety of Causal Concepts	24
II. Cause and Effect: the Central Notion	26
III. Causation and Explanation	30
IV. Causal Generalizations	41
V. Interpersonal Transactions: Reasons and Causes	48
VI. Opportunities	55
III. CAUSATION AND RESPONSIBILITY	58
I. Responsibility in Law and Morals	58
II. Tracing Consequences	64
IV. CAUSATION IN LEGAL THEORY	79
I. The Variety of Causal Questions	79
II. The Traditional Approach	83
III. Modern Criticism	89
V. CAUSATION AND SINE QUA NON	103
I. Necessary Conditions	103
II. When Conditions sine qua non are not causally relevant	108
III. When causally relevant factors are not Conditions sine qua non	116
IV. General Importance of Condition sine qua non	121

THE COMMON LAW

INTRODUCTION	123
VI. THE LAW OF TORT: CAUSING HARM	126
I. Voluntary Human Conduct	129
II. Abnormality	151
VII. THE LAW OF TORT: INDUCING WRONGFUL ACTS, OCCASIONING HARM	171
I. Inducing Harmful Acts	172
II. Occasioning Harm	179
VIII. CONCURRENT CAUSES AND CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE	188
I. Contributory Causes	190
II. How Responsibility is allocated when there are Contributory Causes	208
III. Additional Causes	216
IV. Alternative Causes	225
IX. FORESEEABILITY AND RISK	230
I. The Doctrine that only Foreseeable Harm is Recoverable	234
II. The Doctrine that all Foreseeable Harm is Recoverable	248
III. The Risk Theory	256
X. THE SENSE OF JUDGMENT AND MORAL BLAME	261
I. Green's View	262
II. Moral Blame	268
III. The Scope of the Law of Tort	273
XI. CAUSATION AND CONTRACT	277
I. Economic Loss	277
II. Limitations on Liability in Contract: Hadley v. Baxendale	281
III. Risk in Contract	287
XII. CRIMINAL LAW: CAUSING HARM	292
I. Voluntary Conduct	292
II. Abnormality	304
III. Contributory Causes	313
IV. Doctor's or Victim's Negligence	314

CONTENTS

ix

XIII. CRIMINAL LAW: CAUSING, INDUCING, PER- MITTING OTHERS TO ACT	323
I. The Principal Offender	323
II. Participation in Crime	336
XIV. CAUSATION AND THE PRINCIPLES OF PUNISH- MENT	348
I. Causation and Imputation	350
II. The Draft American Model Penal Code	353
III. The Scope of Criminal Liability	362
XV. EVIDENCE AND PROCEDURE	364
I. Evidence on Causal Issues	364
II. Procedural Effect of Evidence Adduced	374

PART III

CONTINENTAL THEORIES OF CAUSATION

XVI. INDIVIDUALIZING THEORIES AND THEORY OF CONDITIONS (Bedingungstheorie)	381
I. Individualizing Theories of Causation	386
II. Rise of the Theory of Conditions (Bedingungstheorie)	391
III. The Notion of a Condition	394
IV. The Identification of Causes and Conditions	405
XVII. THE GENERALIZING THEORIES: ADEQUATE CAUSE	411
I. Rise of the Adequate Cause Theory	412
II. Detailed Application of the Adequate Theory	423
III. Limitation of Responsibility by Reference to Common-sense Causal Principles	439
LIST OF PRINCIPAL WORKS CITED	442
INDEX	447