
Contents

Notes on Contributors	ix
Abbreviations	xi
1. Something in Between L. W. Sumner	1
2. Incommensurable Values John Broome	21
3. Recognition and Reaction Jonathan Dancy	39
4. Taste and Value Peter Railton	53
5. Objective Human Goods Andrew Moore	75
6. Does the Evaluative Supervene on the Natural? Michael Smith	91
7. Griffin's Pessimism Roger Crisp	115
8. Impartiality, Predictability, and Indirect Consequentialism Brad Hooker	129
9. The Improvisatory Drama of Decision-Making Amélie Oksenberg Rorty	143

10. Anna Karenina and Moral Philosophy Jonathan Glover	159
11. Cognitivism in Political Philosophy S. L. Hurley	177
12. The Central Conflict: Morality and Self-Interest Joseph Raz	209
13. Quality of Well-Being: Quality of Being John Skorupski	239
14. An Abortion Argument and the Threat of Intransitivity Larry S. Temkin	263
Replies
James Griffin	281
1. Well-Being	281
2. The Incommensurability of Values	285
3. Recognition and Reaction	289
4. The Supervenience of the Evaluative on the Natural	296
5. Consequentialism	303
6. An Ethics Undistorted by Over-Ambition	310
 Index	 315