

CONTENTS

Preface and Acknowledgments	xiii
Abbreviations	xv
CHAPTER 1
Introduction: “ He First Makes Mad ”	3
“ Quem Deus Vult Perdere ”	3
A Theater of Mad Gods	8
PART 1: Language and Timing
CHAPTER 2
Tragic Madness Words	13
Normality	13
Compound Nouns	13
Oistros and Io	14
Lussa and Heracles	17
Mania: A Fit of Madness	20
Adjectives	21
CHAPTER 3
God of the Verb	23
Madness Verbs and “God Of”	23
Participles: The Pre-Eminence of the Verb	29
Madness Is Temporary, and Known by Its Appearance	29
CHAPTER 4
Temporary versus Long-term Madness	34
Chronic Susceptibility	34
Io and Orestes	35
Cassandra	38
Temporary and Long-term: The Differences	40
Medicine	42
Narrative	43
PART 2: Darkness and Vision
CHAPTER 5
Inner Shadow	47
Madness Is Black	47
Hellebore, Black Bile	48

Black Anger	53
Melancholia	54
CHAPTER 6
The Afterlife of Inner Blackness	55
“Problem 30”	55
Black Star, Black Sun	57
“Where There Is Lytel Light”	60
Black Tragedy	62
CHAPTER 7
Dark, Twisted Seeing	65
Darkness: Consciousness, or Its Loss?	65
Ajax: Madness and Sight	66
Ajax the Shadow	70
“Destroy Us in the Light”	72
“Twisted” Seeing	73
Bad as Good, Beloved as Enemy	75
CHAPTER 8
True Seeing	78
What Others Cannot See: Cassandra, Orestes, Io	78
“ Fine Frenzy ” and Plato’s Phaedrus	81
Mania Classified by Human Activity	82
Mania Classified by Gods	86
CHAPTER 9
A Legacy of True Mad Seeing	90
Seeing “A Country of Truth”: Democritus at Abdera	90
Melancholic Divination and Christian Folly	92
Who Gets Any “Goods” from What Madness Sees?	94
PART 3: Isolation: Wandering, Disharmony, Pollution
CHAPTER 10
Stone: Madness Is Outside	99
Distance	99
Stone	100
On the Aleian Plain	102
“ All through Ireland ”	103
Madness as “Wandering”	104
CHAPTER 11
“Alienus”: Resonances of Mad Wandering	107
Resonances of Wandering	107
Centrifugal, Centripetal: Two Patterns of Punishment	112

Alienation	115
Idios: " The Black Bird Goes Alone "	117
CHAPTER 12
Inner Wandering	120
Inner and Outer	120
Para and Ek: The Mind Aside, Out of Place	120
Ekstasis and Shamanism	123
Entheos, Enthousiasmos	126
The Mind Damaged, Lost	128
Outside and Inside	129
The Wandering Womb	129
CHAPTER 13
Daemonic Dance	131
" Der Rhythmus der Disharmonie "	131
Joined-Up Dancing	132
" The Song of Erinyes "	134
Disorder through Order	136
Stage Syntax of Madness	139
" Unmusical Music "	140
Nonhuman Passion	141
CHAPTER 14
Skin: Pollution and Shame	145
Boundaries	145
Skin-Sores	146
Miasma and Divine Hostility	149
" In the Conjunction "	150
Purifying	153
Shame	154
CHAPTER 15
Disease, Passion	157
Disease as Daimōn	157
Madness as Disease	158
Phaedra: A "Diseased Lying-Down"	162
" Eros Doubled ": Madness as Passion	163

PART 4: Damage

CHAPTER 16
Mind Damage before Tragedy	167
Atē as " Harm "	167
Inner and Outer, Concrete and Abstract, Mental and Physical	169

"I Was Damaged"	169
Something Lost, Something Added	172
CHAPTER 17
Homer's Damage-Chain	174
The Atē-Sequence	174
Atē, Wine, and Sleep	175
"I'll Hate You as Deeply as I've Loved You"	176
"And Then": Atē as Consequence	178
Personifying the Damage-Chain	181
The Two "Stages" and Their Divine Options	182
Homeric versus Archaic Weight	184
Penalty, Harvest, Daughter	185
CHAPTER 18
The Two Roles of Madness	188
Atē's Replacements: Deception, Erinys, Madness—and Tragedy	188
Tragedy as Atē-Sequence	191
Madness as Instrument and Punishment of Crime	191
"Hyperbolic" and "Real" Madness	194
CHAPTER 19
"Haywire City"	197
"Some Big Hamartia"	197
Tragic "Mistaking"	199
Ignoring Gods, Fighting Gods	201
Atē, Madness, Hamartia	204
Self-Neglect, Self-Damage	206
Child Murder	207
CHAPTER 20
Divine Double Bind	210
Daemonic Self-Conflict	210
Divinity Is Conflict	211
Double Bind	214
Caught in the Cross-fire: Orestes and Io	215
 PART 5: Madness: A Rough Tragic Grammar
CHAPTER 21
Mad in Another World	221
"To Feel for Bearings": Other People's Madness	221
Divinity versus Moral Mismanagement	225
Self-Validation: Psychoanalysis and Anachronism	229

Retreat from Truth	232
Making the Smoke a Door: Respecting Tragedy's Terms	236
CHAPTER 22
Knowledge That Is Sad to Have to Know	238
Terrors of the Earth	238
In the Mad God's Theater: Taking Illusion for Reality	239
"Tragic Fall"	241
"Disease of Heroes"	242
Truth from Illusion, Truth from Pain	244
Madness and the Tragedy-Producing Society	246
"The Scream"	248
APPENDIX
Atē in Tragedy: The Thinning of the Word	249
Aeschylus: From "Recklessness" and Its Punishment to "Doom," or Instrument of Doom	249
Sophocles: "Calamity," "Disaster," "Grief"	253
Euripides: "Doom," "Death," and Agent or Instrument of Destruction	256
Disaster: The Tragic Weight of Atē	257
Works Cited	261
Index	271