

CONTENTS

Preface . . . . . ix

PART I

Identity and the Good

1. Inescapable Frameworks . . . . . 3
2. The Self in Moral Space . . . . . 25
3. Ethics of Inarticulacy . . . . . 53
4. Moral Sources . . . . . 91

PART II

Inwardness

5. Moral Topography . . . . . 111
6. Plato's Self-Mastery . . . . . 115
7. "In Interiore Homine" . . . . . 127
8. Descartes's Disengaged Reason . . . . . 143
9. Locke's Punctual Self . . . . . 159
10. Exploring "l'Humaine Condition" . . . . . 177
11. Inner Nature . . . . . 185
12. A Digression on Historical Explanation . . . . . 199

PART III

The Affirmation of Ordinary Life

13. "God Loveth Adverbs" . . . . . 211
14. Rationalized Christianity . . . . . 234
15. Moral Sentiments . . . . . 248

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 16. The Providential Order . . . . .   | 266 |
| 17. The Culture of Modernity . . . . . | 285 |

PART IV

The Voice of Nature

|                                     |     |
|-------------------------------------|-----|
| 18. Fractured Horizons . . . . .    | 305 |
| 19. Radical Enlightenment . . . . . | 321 |
| 20. Nature as Source . . . . .      | 355 |
| 21. The Expressivist Turn . . . . . | 368 |

PART V

Subtler Languages

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 22. Our Victorian Contemporaries . . . . .     | 393 |
| 23. Visions of the Post-Romantic Age . . . . . | 419 |
| 24. Epiphanies of Modernism . . . . .          | 456 |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 25. Conclusion: The Conflicts of Modernity . . . . . | 495 |
|--|-----|

|                 |     |
|-----------------|-----|
| Notes . . . . . | 523 |
|-----------------|-----|

|                 |     |
|-----------------|-----|
| Index . . . . . | 595 |
|-----------------|-----|