

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ABBREVIATIONS	ix
INTRODUCTION: The Part of the Subject	1
I. Truth and Finitude
1. Heidegger's Cave. Being and Time on Disappearing Existentials	23
2. From Foucault to Heidegger. A One-Way Ticket?	47
3. Meaning and Validity. Habermas on Heidegger and Foucault	73
4. Raw Being and Violent Discourse. Foucault, Merleau-Ponty and the (Dis-)order of Things	91
II. A Silence Which Escapes Intersubjectivity
5. Dis-possessed. How to Remain Silent 'after' Levinas	115
6. Uneuropean Desires. Toward a Provincialism without Romanticism	144
7. The Untouchable. Merleau-Ponty's Last Subject	165
8. A Western Problem? Merleau-Ponty on Intersubjectivity	201
III. The Loneliness of a Subject Unable to Disappear
9. No Privacy? Levinas's Intrigue of the Infinite	235
10. Can Only a 'Yes' Save Us Now? Anti-Racism's First Word in Derrida and Levinas	274
11. The Gaze of the Big Other. Levinas and Sartre on Racism	326
12. Losing Face. Richard Rorty's Last Words	357
CONCLUSION: Still Otherwise...? Between Foucault and Levinas	375
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	398
INDEX	401