

Contents

Preface	xi
Introduction	3
1. The Enlightenment in France and the Rise of the Bourgeoisie	20
2. The Double-Edged Sword: Voltaire	35
3. Paranoia to Politics: Rousseau	54
4. Warning Signs: Hume and Sade	73
5. In the Name of Humanity: The French Revolution	87
6. The Enlightenment in Germany: Kant's Transcendental Revolution	110
7. The Poetry of Self-Realization: Goethe and His Faust	137
8. "The Finest Man since Caesar": Napoleon and Revolutionary Despotism	160
9. The Good, the Beautiful, and the Ugly: David and Goya	182
10. The Romance of Classicism: The Phantom of the Ancients	205
11. The Universal in Action: G. W. F. Hegel	219
12. The Highest Wisdom, the Purest Speech: Beethoven	248
13. The Classic/Romanticism Game: Ingres and Delacroix	267
14. Dull Times: The Romantic Reaction	290
15. From Poetry to Revolution: The Young Marx	310
16. The Singular Universal: Søren Kierkegaard	339
Concluding Post-Enlightenment Subscript: The Problem of "Humanity" and the "End of Man"	357
Notes	361
Index	403