

CONTENTS

Foreword by R. Edward Freeman xiii

Introduction: Can Ethics Be Taught? 3

I. BUSINESS MYTHS AND METAPHORS: VICES PARADING AS VIRTUES 11

1. Bonfire of the Virtues 13
2. Macho Myths and Metaphors 22
3. Abstract Greed 34
4. The Myth of the Profit Motive 39
5. Game Theory as a Model for Business and Business Ethics 48
6. The End of Cowboy Capitalism 65
7. Atomic Myths and Metaphors: Individualism and "the Entrepreneur" 74
8. Beyond Selfishness: Adam Smith and the Limits of the Market 85
9. Beyond Cost/Benefit Analysis: Utilitarianism Refined 90

II. AN ARISTOTELEAN APPROACH TO BUSINESS: FRAMEWORK AND THEORY 95

10. Business Ethics: "The Third Wave" and the Problem of Theory 97

- 11. The Aristotelean Approach to Business Ethics 101
- 12. Alternative Approaches to Business Ethics 112
- 13. Business as a Practice 118
- 14. An Aristotelean Metaphor: Corporate Culture 125
- 15. Business as a Profession: People in Business as Professionals 136
- 16. The Six Parameters of Aristotelean Ethics 145
  - The Corporation as Community* 145
  - In Search of Excellence* 153
  - The Individual in the Organization* 160
  - The Meaning of Integrity* 168
  - Decision Making and Good Judgment* 174
  - Holism: Beyond Stakeholder Analysis* 179

III. THE HEART OF THE CORPORATION: BUSINESS VIRTUES AND VICES 187

- 17. The Nature of the Virtues 191
- 18. Aristotelean Virtues: Warrior, Moral, Business 199
- 19. The Basic Business Virtues: Honesty, Fairness, Trust, and Toughness 207
- 20. The Virtues of the Corporate Self: Friendliness, Honor, Loyalty, Shame 217
- 21. Competition, Caring, and Compassion 225
- 22. Justice: The Ultimate Virtue of Corporate Life 231
- 23. Envy and Resentment: Corporate Poison 242
- 24. The Charismatic Virtues: Saints, Heroes, Clowns, and Rogues 246

25. Theories in Practice: Ethical Styles 252

26. Moral Mazes, Moral Courage, and the Problem of Integrity 258

Bibliography 267

Index 277