

CONTENTS

Introduction, by Richard Taylor vii

PART I. THE ONTOLOGICAL ARGUMENT IN THE HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY

1. St. Anselm	3
A. St. Anselm's Ontological Argument	3
B. Gaunilo: In Behalf of the Fool	6
C. St. Anselm's Reply to Gaunilo	13
2. St. Thomas Aquinas	28
3. René Descartes	31
A. Descartes' Statement of the Onto- logical Argument	31
B. Objection to Descartes' Argument by Caterus	35
C. Descartes' Reply to Caterus	37
D. Objection by a Group of Seventeenth- Century Philosophers and Theologians	41
E. Descartes' Reply	42
F. Objection to Descartes' Argument by P. Gassendi	45
G. Descartes' Reply	48
4. Benedict de Spinoza	50
5. Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz	54
6. Immanuel Kant: The Impossibility of an     Ontological Proof of the Existence of God	57
7. Arthur Schopenhauer	65

PART II. CONTEMPORARY VIEWS OF THE ONTOLOGICAL ARGUMENT

8.	G. E. Moore: Is Existence a Predicate?	71
9.	William P. Alston: The Ontological Argument Revisited	86
10.	J. N. Findlay: Can God's Existence Be Disproved?	111
11.	Charles Hartshorne: The Necessarily Existent	123
12.	Norman Malcolm	136
	A. Malcolm's Statement of Anselm's Ontological Arguments	136
	B. A Reply by Alvin Plantinga: A Valid Ontological Argument?	160
	C. A Reply by Paul Henle: Uses of the Ontological Argument	171