

CONTENTS

Preface ix

PRELUDE: THE DEATH OF SOCRATES

1. Apology 19a–23b: Socrates' defence at his trial, and his confession of ignorance 3
2. Phaedo 115a–118a: the death of Socrates 10

PART I: THE SEARCH FOR A SOCRATIC ETHICS

3. Meno 80a–c: Meno describes Socrates 19
4. Theaetetus 148c–151d: Socrates describes himself 21
5. Meno 71d–74a: the search for definitions (I) 27
6. Theaetetus 145e–147c: the search for definitions (II) 32
7. Crito 48b–53a: obedience to the state 35
8. Euthyphro 6d–11e: holiness and the gods 44
9. Republic 334b–336a: justice towards enemies 54

PART II: CAN VIRTUE BE TAUGHT?

10. Meno 86c–90a: can virtue be taught? (I) 61
11. Protagoras 318a–325c: can virtue be taught? (II) 67
12. Protagoras 329b–333b: the unity of the virtues 78
13. Protagoras 349d–351b: a counter-example to the unity thesis: courage (I) 85

PART III: JUSTICE AND PLEASURE

14. Protagoras 351b–358d: pleasure and the good (I) 91
15. Protagoras 358d–361c: courage (II), and a conclusion about teaching virtue 103

16. Gorgias 474c–475e: ‘It is better to suffer injustice than to do injustice’ 108
17. Gorgias 491e–492c: why be temperate? (I) 112
18. Gorgias 493d–497a: pleasure and the good (II) 114
19. Republic 359b–360d: why be just? (I: Gyges’ ring) 121
20. Republic 588b–590d: why be just and temperate? (II: an answer) 124
21. Philebus 45d–52c: mixed and unmixed pleasures; and art (I) 129

PART IV: GOD AND THE SOUL

22. Phaedo 70c–72d: the immortality of the soul (I) 145
23. Republic 435e–442e: the forms in the soul (I); their harmony; and justice 150
24. Republic 608c–611a: the immortality of the soul (II); and why be just? (III: another answer) 160
25. Phaedrus 245c–248e: the immortality of the soul (III); and its parts (II) 165
26. Laws 894e–897b: the existence of the divine soul 170

PART V: KNOWLEDGE AND THE FORMS (I)

27. Meno 96e–98b: knowledge and belief 179
28. Meno 80c–86b: recollection (I); the paradox of inquiry 182
29. Phaedo 72e–77b: recollection (II); the immortality of the soul.(IV) 193
30. Phaedo 96a–101d: scientific explanation through the Forms 202
31. Republic 475e–480a: knowledge, belief and ignorance 212
32. Republic 595c–598b: the Forms; imitation; and art (II) 222
33. Republic 508a–509b: the image of the sun 227
34. Republic 514a–519a: the image of the cave; or can virtue be taught? (III) 230

PART VI: KNOWLEDGE AND THE FORMS (II)

- | | |
|---|-----|
| 35. Parmenides 130b–135c: criticisms of the theory of Forms | 243 |
| 36. Theaetetus 170a–171c: Protagoras refuted | 254 |
| 37. Theaetetus 181b–183c: Heracleitus refuted | 257 |
| 38. Theaetetus 184b–186e: knowledge is not perception | 262 |
| 39. Theaetetus 200d–201c: knowledge is not true belief | 267 |
| 40. Theaetetus 206c–210b: knowledge is not true belief with an account | 269 |
| 41. Sophist 245e–249e: the battle of the gods and the giants | 277 |
| 42. Sophist 254b–258e: the greatest kinds | 284 |
| 43. Timaeus 51d–e: understanding and true belief | 294 |
| 44. Philebus 58d–62d: letting in opinion | 295 |

EPILOGUE: PLATO ON WRITING PHILOSOPHY

- | | |
|--------------------------------|-----|
| 45. Phaedrus 275c–e | 303 |
| 46. Seventh Letter 344c | 304 |

Suggestions for Further Reading 305