Contents

		PAGE
OR	EWORD	vii
	PTER THE PROBLEM	3
II.	Humanistic Ethics: The Applied Science of the Art of Living	8
	1. Humanistic vs. Authoritarian Ethics	8
	2. Subjectivistic vs. Objectivistic Ethics	14
	3. The Science of Man	20
	4. The Tradition of Humanistic Ethics	25
	5. Ethics and Psychoanalysis	30
II.	Human Nature and Character	38
	1. The Human Situation	38
	a. Man's Biological Weaknessb. The Existential and the Historical Dichot-	39
	omies in Man	40
	2. Personality	50
	a. Temperament	51
	b. Character	54
	(1) The Dynamic Concept of Character(2) Types of Character: The Nonproduc-	54
	tive Orientations	62
	(a) The Receptive Orientation	62

CHA	FIER	PAG
	(b) The Exploitative Orientation	64
	(c) The Hoarding Orientation	6
	(d) The Marketing Orientation	6
	(3) The Productive Orientation	8:
	(a) General Characteristics	8:
	(b) Productive Love and Thinking	90
	(4) Orientations in the Process of Social-	,
	ization	10
	(5) Blends of Various Orientations	112
IV.	PROBLEMS OF HUMANISTIC ETHICS	118
	1. Selfishness, Self-Love, and Self-Interest	110
	2. Conscience, Man's Recall to Himself	141
	a. Authoritarian Conscience	14
	b. Humanistic Conscience	158
	3. Pleasure and Happiness	172
	a. Pleasure as a Criterion of Value	172
	b. Types of Pleasure	18
	c. The Problem of Means and Ends	191
	4. Faith as a Character Trait	197
	5. The Moral Powers in Man	210
	a. Man, Good or Evil?	210
	b. Repression vs. Productiveness	226
	c. Character and Moral Judgment	231
	6. Absolute vs. Relative, Universal vs. Socially	-
	Immanent Ethics	237
V.	THE MORAL PROBLEM OF TODAY	245
ÎNDE	Y	2.51