

CONTENTS

1 Introduction: The MOR Concept	1
What MOR is! What it is not!	2
Management work versus operating work	5
What functions and activities are included in management work?.....	8
Cost-benefit analysis	12
In summary	15
2 The MOR Process	17
The MOR funnel.....	17
Steps in the MOR process.....	18
In summary	23
3 Defining Roles and Missions	25
What are roles and missions?	25
Why do we need to define roles and missions?	25
Where does the statement come from?.....	26
Where do organizational unit roles-and-missions statements come in?	28
What factors should be included?	29
How should statements be prepared?	32
In summary	33
Clarifying Corporate Roles and Missions	34
Clarifying Organizational Unit Roles and Missions	34

Key Questions for Evaluating a Statement of Roles and Missions	36
Sample Statements of Roles and Missions	36
4 Determining Key Results Areas	45
What are key results areas?	45
The principle of “the critical few”	46
Guidelines for determining key results areas	48
Sample key results areas	50
Setting priorities on your key results areas	51
Applying key results areas to a group.....	53
In summary	54
Guidelines for Determining Key Results Areas	54
5 Identifying and Specifying Indicators of Effectiveness	56
What are indicators?	56
Why use indicators?.....	57
Guidelines for identifying and specifying indicators.....	58
Sample indicators	62
How to identify and specify your indicators	63
The MOR agreement.....	63
In summary	65
Guidelines for Identifying and Specifying Indicators	65
6 Selecting and Setting Objectives	67
Identifying objectives	68
What is an objective?	68
What should be objectivized?.....	69
Must we objectivize everything?	69
How do we determine our objectives — using the MOR funnel?	70
How do we determine our objectives — without using the MOR funnel?.....	72
What about “subjectives”?.....	77
How do we set priorities on objectives?	78
What do we do with a priority list of objectives?.....	85

Writing objectives.....	86
How do we write meaningful objectives?	86
Guidelines for writing objectives.....	87
In summary	98
Guidelines for Writing Objectives	99
Key Questions for Evaluating Objectives	100
Sample Objectives	101
7 Preparing Action Plans	107
Programming	108
Why should we program an objective?.....	108
The alternative evaluation chart	109
What other approaches to programming can be used? ...	114
How do we program an objective?	116
Programming breakdown.....	118
Action plan format	119
Scheduling, budgeting, fixing accountability, and reviewing and reconciling	124
What is scheduling?	124
What is budgeting?	130
What is fixing accountability?	135
What is "reviewing and reconciling"?	136
In summary	139
Guidelines for Programming an Objective	140
Key Questions for Evaluating Action Steps	141
Key Questions for Review and Reconciliation in Planning	141
Sample Programmed Objectives	142
8 Establishing Controls	146
What are the economic considerations of control?	147
What should be controlled?	148
How do we control?.....	150
Establishing standards — what is likely to go wrong?	151
Measuring performance — how and when will you know?.....	160
Taking corrective action — what will you do?.....	167
In summary	170
Key Questions for Evaluating Control Measures	170

- 9 Communications — the MOR Catalyst 172
 - Communications benefits and applications..... 172
 - Methods for effective MOR communications 178
 - 1. Individual (one to one) 178
 - 2. Intraunit (team applications)..... 180
 - 3. Intergroup (both internal and external to the total organization) 183
 - 4. Organization-wide (particularly top-management role)..... 184
 - 5. Support or staff units (special concerns)..... 186
 - In summary 188

- 10 Implementing MOR 190
 - From the individual manager’s perspective 191
 - From the perspective of the total organization 197
 - Critical factors..... 197
 - How to get MOR started 205
 - Program emphasis based on management level..... 209
 - In summary 213
 - Individual Manager’s Worksheet for Implementing MOR* 213

- 11 Summary: The MOR Process in Brief..... 215
 - In summary 221

- Bibliography 222

- Appendix: “Experience” Articles..... 231
 - Special Problems of Managing the Adolescent Company Noel J. Fenton 233
 - Applying the MOR Process in an Investor-Owned Utility Ronald R. Regnier..... 246