

Contents

INTRODUCTION: WHAT IS PHILOSOPHY? 1

1. The task of philosophy 3

Why we need philosophy
The meanings of philosophy
Ideas in action

PART ONE: MAN, SELF, AND FREEDOM 17

2. The nature of man 19

What is human nature?
Interpretations of man
How man differs from the rest of nature
Man's relationship to man

3. The self 38

Denials of the existence of a self
The nature of the self
The uniqueness of the human self

4. What is the mind? 53

Difficulty in studying the mind
Theories of the mind
The mind-body relationship
The ongoing dilemma of the mind

5. How free is man? 75

The denial of freedom
Indeterminism

The case for freedom and determinism
Freedom as an achievement

PART TWO: THE REALM OF VALUES 95

6. The nature of values 97

Facts and values
How are values justified?
The selection of values
Current value conflicts

7. The question of morality 115

Some facts of the moral life
Approaches to ethics
Ethical standards
Evaluating an action
The basis of the moral life

8. Freedom and law 139

Freedom of speech
Freedom of expression in our time
The limits of liberty
Civil disobedience

9. Individualism and governmental control 156

The rise of individualism
The growth of governmental control
Contrasting values
Extremist thinking
Immediate social problems

PART THREE: ART, HISTORY, EDUCATION 173

10. Aesthetics and the philosophy of art 175

The aesthetic experience
Beauty and the arts
Medium, technique, form, and subject matter

Theories of art
The growth of modern art

11. The philosophy of history 193

Interpretations of history
Modern studies of history
Building a higher civilization

12. Philosophy and the educational venture 211

Criticism of contemporary education
The liberal arts
Some types of educational theory
The educated person
A never-ending venture

PART FOUR: KNOWLEDGE AND SCIENCE 227

13. The sources of knowledge 229

Tradition and common sense
Obstacles to clear thinking
The possible sources of knowledge
West and east: contrasting attitudes
The sources as complementary 14. The nature of knowledge 250

Common sense
Subjectivism
Objectivism
Intermediate positions

15. The validity of knowledge 266

Three tests of truth
Evaluation of the tests of truth
Spheres of intellectual discourse
The limitations of knowledge

16. Science and philosophy 284

The development of science
Scientific methods

The value and achievements of science
Limitations of scientific methods
The relation of philosophy to science

17. Scientific progress and philosophical problems 312

Changing views of the physical universe
Space-time and relativity
Advances in life sciences
Philosophical questions

PART FIVE: RELIGION: EAST AND WEST 331

18. Belief in God 333

Grounds for disbelief in God
The nature of God
Grounds for belief in God
Personal survival after death
What difference does faith make?

19. The nature of religion 354

What is religion?
The origin and growth of religion
Judaism
Christianity
Islam
Recent religious questions

20. Oriental thought 371

The Hindu tradition
The Buddhist quest for enlightenment
Emphases in Chinese thinking
The value system of the Japanese
The west turns to the east
Points of contrast

PART SIX: PHILOSOPHICAL OUTLOOKS 399

21. Some forms of naturalism 401

Mechanistic materialism

Dialectical materialism
Humanistic naturalism
Man and human society

22. Idealism 422

What idealism is
Types of idealism
Idealistic arguments
Implications of idealism
Evaluation of idealism

23. Realism 441

What realism is
The history of realism
Implications of realism
Evaluation of realism

24. Pragmatism 455

What pragmatism is
Charles S. Peirce
William James
The instrumentalism of John Dewey
Implications of pragmatism
Evaluation of pragmatism

25. Analytic philosophy 477

Language and philosophy
Locke, Hume, and the traditional outlook
The empirical tradition
Analytic philosophy and questions of knowledge
Analytic philosophy and the task of philosophy
Evaluation of analytic philosophy

26. Existentialism and phenomenology 499

Common characteristics of existentialism
Some existentialist thinkers
Phenomenology
An evaluation

27. An appeal to human experience 523

- Basic assumptions
- Points of agreement
- Points of disagreement
- A possible synthesis
- A comprehensive view

Glossary 537

Index 551