

Contents

---

Preface xi

Chapter 1

Subjectivity and the Natural Order	1
1 Subjectivity	1
2 Philosophical Space	1
3 Consciousness and Cognitivism	3
4 Conscious Shyness and the New Mysterianism	8
5 Subjectivity, Objectivity, and the Natural Method	11
6 The Natural Method: Three Examples	13

Chapter 2

Quining Consciousness	21
1 What Quining Is	21
2 The Phlogiston Objection	22
3 The Karma Objection	28

Chapter 3

Consciousness and the Brain	35
1 Mind, Brain, and Experience	35
2 The Evolution of Darwin Machines	40
3 Neural Darwinism	46
4 Self and Nonself	49
5 Sensory Qualia and Neural Vectors	51
6 Experiential Sensitivity versus Informational Sensitivity	55
7 Identity Theory to a First Approximation?	56

Chapter 4

Qualia	61
1 Quining Qualia	61
2 What Qualia Are	62
3 Sensational and Nonsensational Qualia	67
4 Inverted Qualia	68
5 Intractable Qualia	72

Chapter 5

The Missing Shade of You	87
1 The Subject Is Experience	87
2 The Missing Shade of Blue	87
3 The Missing Shade of You	89
4 Capturing You: The Very Idea	89
5 Grasping Experiences	94
6 Missing Shades Again	97
7 Refrain: The Missing Shade of You	102

Chapter 6

The Mystery of Consciousness	109
1 The Mystery of Qualia	109
2 The First Argument: Why We Can't Solve the Problem of Consciousness	111
3 Critique of the First Argument	112
4 Some Further Objections and Replies	118
5 The Second Argument: The Hidden Structure of Consciousness	120
6 Critique of the Hidden-Structure Argument	123

Chapter 7

Conscious Inessentialism and the Epiphenomenalist Suspicion	129
1 Conscious Inessentialism	129
2 The Epiphenomenalist Suspicion	130
3 Some Arguments from Design	132
4 An Experiment in Epiphenomenalism	136
5 Teleological Functionalism, Epiphenomenalism, and Defects of Consciousness	139
6 Blocking Teleological Functionalism	145
7 Phenomenal Access	147
8 Can the Epiphenomenalist Explain Everything That the Teleological Functionalism Can Explain?	149

Chapter 8

The Stream of Consciousness	153
1 What Is It Like to Have a Normal Consciousness?	153
2 Phenomenology	153
3 Are We Ever Wholly Unconscious?	156
4 The Stream	158
5 The Function of the Stream	166
6 Nonstandard Phenomenologies	166
7 Phenomenal Competition	169

Chapter 9

The Illusion of the Mind's "I"	177
1 The Mind's "I"	177
2 The Illusion of Ego	177
3 Me: The Self as Known	179
4 The Seduction	182
5 I: The Self as Knower	183
6 Personal Identity	187
7 The Unbearable Lightness of Egolessness	188

Chapter 10

Consciousness and the Self	193
1 Weak and Strong Self-Consciousness	193
2 Actual and Self-Represented Identity	195
3 The Narrative Structure of Self-Representation	197
4 Self-Emergence	200
5 Whom the Self Plays For	202
6 The Self as Fiction	204
7 Real and Unreal Selves	207

Chapter 11

A Unified Theory of Consciousness?	213
1 Prospects for a Theory of Consciousness	213
2 A Brief Recapitulation	220

References	223
------------	-----

Index	229
-------	-----