

Contents

Foreword by Paul Ramsey and William F. May	7
1. Violence and Theology	19
The Terms of Our Inquiry	22
From Darkness Toward Light	26
Theology and Scripture	29
Theology and the Unbeliever	31
In Summary	32
2. Demonism—The Spiritual Reality of Our Day	34
The Violence We Imagine	35
The New Shape of the Demonic	47
The Demonic as the Decisive Form of Evil	51
3. Service as the Power of God	53
A Shockingly Impractical Creed	55
The Power That Is Weakness	61
4. Self-giving as the Inner Life of God	64
Is the Trinity an Outmoded Doctrine?	66
The Unfinished Work of Nicaea	67
Does God Need a Son?	70
A Relationship of Total Self-giving	74

Needy, yet Still God!	76
Service, Not Domination	79
Athanasius and Arius: A Study in Contrasts	80
5. The Victory of Christ	83
No Two-faced God!	84
What Is the Source of Ungodly Power?	86
The Power of Evil Is the Power to Kill	88
We Are as the Power That Rules Us	90
The Power of God in the Suffering of Christ	93
No Longer Slaves, but Sons	98
6. Resting in Our Need	99
The Lovelessness of Decent People	100
The Excessive Love of the Samaritan	103
Who Is My Neighbor?	105
Who Is the Good Samaritan?	108
7. Love and Suffering	112
Loving in Our Need	113
The World Reacts	114
The Christian and Sorrow	115
In God Alone We Trust	118
8. A Postscript on Theological Method	120
The Conditions of Our Quest	122
The Unending Nature of Our Quest	128