

CONTENTS

PART I. ELENCHUS

I. INTRODUCTION: THE INTERPRETATION OF PLATO	page 1
II. ELENCHUS The Elenchus in the Early Dialogues—Plato's Discussions of the Elenchus—The Personal Character of the Elenchus—Criticism of the Elenchus	7
III. DIRECT AND INDIRECT Syllogism in the Elenchus—Direct and Indirect Elenchus—Plato's Awareness of this Distinction—Plato's Conception of the Logic of Elenchus	20
IV. EPAGOGÉ Forms of Epagoge in the Dialogues—The Speakers' Conception of Epagoge—The Relation of Epagoge to Syllogism in the Dialogues—The Socratic Use of Cases—Plato's Consciousness of Epagoge—Epagoge and Definition	33
V. SOCRATIC DEFINITION The What-is-X? Question—Critique of the What-is-X? Question	49
PART II. DIALECTIC
VI. DIALECTIC Method—Dialectic—Question and Answer—Eristic—Who Invented Dialectic?	61
VII. HYPOTHESIS The Notion of Hypothesis—The Use of Hypothesis	93
VIII. HYPOTHESIS IN THE MENO	114
IX. HYPOTHESIS IN THE PHAEDO Translation of the Passage—The Metaphor of Accord in 100A—The Metaphor of Accord in 101D—Hypothesizing a Higher Hypothesis—Miscellaneous Questions	123

X. HYPOTHESIS IN THE REPUBLIC

A Conflict between Plato's Epistemology and His Methodology—
 Translation of Passages on Method in the Republic—Mathematics
 —The Unhypothesized Beginning—The Upward Path—The Synthesis—Theory of the Upward Path—Mathematical Theories of the Upward Path—The Phaedo—Theory of the Upward Path—
 The Intuition—Theory of the Upward Path—Comments

146

XI. THE LINE AND THE CAVE

The 'Cave' is not Parallel to the 'Line'—Plato's Account of the Relation between 'Cave' and 'Line'—Interpretation of 517—Conjecture (εἰκασία) and the Mathematics—A General View of the 'Line'—Mathematics

180

XII. ANALOGY

Plato's Use of Hypothetical Method—Plato's Use of Analogy and Imagery—Plato's Discussions of Analogy and Imagery—Plato on Images and Imitation

202

✓ XIII. HYPOTHESIS IN THE PARMENIDES

The first part is against Forms—The first part is against Plato's own Forms—Plato thought the arguments serious—Plato never answered the arguments—The second part does not state a doctrine—The second part does not state a method—The dialogue provides mental exercise—Cornford's interpretation combines in-compatibles—Translation of the passages on method—Hypothetical method in the Parmenides

223

INDEX

281