

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

Part One Feminist Practice: The Personal Is Political

ONE The Contemporary Women's Movement 17

TWO From Suffrage to Sexuality 43

Part Two Feminist Theory

THREE Toward a Method for Understanding Gender 69

FOUR Gender and Modernity: Reinterpreting the Family, the State, and the Economy 105

Part Three Political Theory

FIVE John Locke: The Theoretical Separation of the Family and the State 133

SIX Karl Marx: The Theoretical Separation of the Domestic and the Economic 167

SEVEN Conclusion 201

Notes 209

Index 231