

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	1
PREDESTINATION, GOD'S FOREKNOWLEDGE, AND FUTURE CONTINGENTS	34
Question I: Are passive predestination and passive fore-     knowledge real relations in the person who is predestinate     and foreknown?	34
Assumptions	45
Question II: In respect of all future contingents does God     have determinate, certain, infallible, immutable, necessary     cognition of one part of a contradiction?	54
Article I	54
Article II	56
Article III	59
Part One	59
Part Two	62
Part Three	64
Part Four	65
Part Five	66
Article IV	67
Part One	67
Part Two	69

Part Three	69
Part Four	69
Part Five	70

Question III: How can the contingency of the will, both created and uncreated, be preserved in the case of its causing something external? That is, can the will, as naturally prior to the caused act, cause the opposite act at the same instant at which it causes that act, or can it at another, subsequent instant cause the opposite act or cease from that caused act?	71
---	----

Question IV: Is there a cause of predestination in the predestinate and a cause of reprobation in the reprobate?	77
---	----

Question V: In view of the fact that the propositions 'Peter is predestinate' and 'Peter is reprobate' are opposites, why cannot the one succeed the other in truth?	78
---	----

APPENDICES	80
------------	----

Appendix I: Ordinatio , Distinctions 38 and 39	80
Appendix II: Commentary on Aristotle's De interpretatione , Chapter 9	96
Appendix III: Summa logicae , Part III (3), Chapter 30	110

BIBLIOGRAPHIES	115
----------------	-----

1. Ockham's Nonpolitical Works in Probable Chronological Order	115
2. Recent Discussions of Relevant Aspects of Ockham's Philosophy	118
3. Other Medieval Philosophers on Topics Closely Related to Those Discussed in Ockham's Treatise	120
4. Recent Discussions of Topics Closely Related to Those Discussed in Ockham's Treatise	125

Table of Contents	ix
5. Recent Discussions of Aristotle's De interpretatione , Chapter 9	126
INDEX	129