

Contents

Preface	ix
Abbreviations of Works Cited	xiii
1 Introduction: Of an Ancient Desire	1

I Theoria and Philosophy: Heidegger and Aristotle

2 Vision in Theory and Praxis: Heidegger's Reading of Aristotle (1924)	17
The End of Desire	24
The Complication of Praxis	29
The Glance of the Eye	39
Athanatizein	47
3 The Genesis of Theory: Being and Time (1927)	55
The Natural Genesis of Theory	57
Dispersions of Vision: Theory, Praxis, Techne	63
The Existential Genesis of Theory	72
The Thematizing Projection of Things	81
Modification	85
4 Originary Praxis: The Trace of Phronesis in Being and Time	93
Originary Praxis and Authenticity	99
Seeing Oneself	107
The Time of the Augenblick	114
Retrospect on the 1922 Treatise on Aristotle	123
Augenblick and World	131

5	Theory and Praxis at the University: The Rectoral Address (1933)	137
----------	---	------------

II The Transformation of Theoria

6	Technovision: Modern Science and Technology	161
	The Age of the World Picture	166
	The Contemplation of the Real	173
	Grasping Things	178
	Making Progress: The Future of Science	181
	The Transformation of Presence: From Science to Technology . .	187
	The Collapse of Causality	192
	The End of Technology	202
	The Turning of Presence at the End of Technology	210

III The Threshold of Representation: The Augenblick in Heidegger's Reading of Nietzsche

7	Vision and the Enigma	221
----------	------------------------------	------------

IV Originary Theoria

8	In the Presence of the Sensible: Vision and Ecstasis	241
	Theoria in Retrospect: Philosophy, Science, and Curiosity	242
	Theoria and Divinity: The Philosophical Turn	252
	The Theoria of the Ancients	263
	"To Things Their Look . . .": The Origin of the Work of Art . . .	279
	The Look of the Other	303
	Absence of the Body	320
	Visions of Stillness	331

	Selected Bibliography	341
--	------------------------------	------------

	Index of Names	349
--	-----------------------	------------

	Index of Subjects	353
--	--------------------------	------------