
Contents

Translator's Introduction	vii
Part I
Archaic Division of Powers
1 After the Absolutism of Reality	3
2 The Name Breaks into the Chaos of the Unnamed	34
3 'Significance'	59
4 Procedural Regulations	113
Part II
Stories Become History
1 The Distortion of Temporal Perspective	149
2 Fundamental Myths and Art Myths	174
3 Myths and Dogmas	215
4 To Bring Myth to an End	263
Part III
The Theft of Fire Ceases to Be Sacrilege
1 The Reception of the Sources Produces the Sources of the Reception	299

2 Sophists and Cynics: Antithetical Aspects of the Prometheus Material 328

3 Return from Existential Groundlessness 350

4 Aesthetic Brightening Up 377

Part IV

Against a God, Only a God

Introduction 399

1 “Priming Powder for an Explosion” 403

2 A Conflict between Gods 430

3 Prometheus Becomes Napoleon, Napoleon Prometheus 465

4 Ways of Reading the “Extraordinary Saying” 523

Part V

The Titan in His Century

1 Passage through the Philosophy of History 561

2 On the Rock of Mute Solitude Again 595

3 To Bring to an End, If Not Myth, Then at Least One Myth 627

Notes 639

Name Index 679