

Contents

Introduction by Paul Dudley White, M.D.	9
I. Aequanimitas	27
II. Doctor and Nurse	32
III. Teacher and Student	36
IV. Physic and Physicians as Depicted in Plato	49
V. Teaching and Thinking	69
VI. Internal Medicine as a Vocation	77
VII. After Twenty-five Years	86
VIII. Medicine in the Nineteenth Century	96
IX. Chauvinism in Medicine	126
X. Books and Men	143
XI. Some Aspects of American Medical Bibliography	148
XII. The Hospital as a College	155
XIII. On the Educational Value of the Medical Society	164
XIV. The Student Life	175
XV. The Fixed Period	193
XVI. Unity, Peace, and Concord	206
XVII. The Master-Word in Medicine	217
XVIII. Bed-Side Library for Medical Students	228