

Contents

Person and Being	1
Introduction	1
Chapter I. Being as Dynamic Act	6
1. Being as Active and Self-communicative	6
2. Being as Relational	13
3. Being as Receptivity, Community, Communion	20
Chapter II. Application to the Person	25
1. The Meaning of Person	25
2. The Structure of Human Nature	32
3. The Person as Self-possessing	42
4. The Person as Self-communicative and Relational	64
5. Receptivity as Complementary to Self-Communication	82
6. The Person as Self-transcending	94
7. The Problem of Evil	108
Conclusion	110
Notes	115