

Contents

CHAP.		PAGE
	PREFACE	v
I	THE GREEK THEORY OF THE STATE	1
II	THE GREEK STATE	19
	The General Characteristics of the Greek State	19
	City States and Tribal States	26
	The Greek State and Slavery	32
	The Greek State and Representative Institutions	38
	The Greek State and Education	41
III	POLITICAL THOUGHT BEFORE THE SOPHISTS	47
	From Homer to Solon	47
	Pythagoreans and Ionians	52
	The Transition from the Physicists to the Humanists	60
IV	THE POLITICAL THEORY OF THE SOPHISTS	63
	The Rise of Ethical and Political Speculation	63
	The General Characteristics of the Sophists	66
	Protagoras and the Earlier Sophists	69
	The Antithesis of Φύσις and Νόμος	74
	The Sophist Antiphon	76
	Plato's Account of Sophistic Theories	79
	General Iconoclasm	86
	Pamphleteers and Utopians	89
	APPENDIX.—Two Fragments from the Treatise of the Sophist Antiphon 'On Truth'	95
V	SOCRATES AND THE MINOR SOCRATICS	99
	The Life of Socrates	99
	The Method and Doctrine of Socrates	100
	The Death of Socrates	107
	Xenophon	114
	Isocrates	115
	The Cynics and Cyrenaics	120

CHAP.		PAGE
VI	PLATO AND THE PLATONIC DIALOGUE	126
	The Life of Plato	126
	The Method of Plato's Dialogues	136
VII	THE EARLIER DIALOGUES OF PLATO	140
	1. The Apology and the Crito	140
	2. The Charmides , Euthydemus , and Laches	143
	3. The Meno , Protagoras , and Gorgias	147
VIII	THE REPUBLIC AND ITS THEORY OF JUSTICE	168
	The Plan and Motives of the Republic	168
	The Prima Facie Theories of Justice:
	1. The Theory of Cephalus: Traditionalism	177
	2. The Theory of Thrasymachus: Radicalism	179
	3. The Theory of Glaucon: Pragmatism	184
	The Construction of the Ideal State	187
	1. The Economic Factor in the State	190
	2. The Military Factor in the State	192
	3. The Philosophic Factor in the State	194
	The Classes of the Platonic State	198
	Platonic Justice	203
IX	THE REPUBLIC AND ITS THEORY OF EDUCATION	209
	The Place of Education in Plato's State	209
	Greek Methods of Education	211
	The Philosophic Basis of Plato's Theory of Education	215
	The Training of the Guardians or Auxiliaries:
	1. The Place of Gymnastics in Education	219
	2. The Place of Music in Education	222
	The Higher Studies of the Perfect Guardians	227
	The Life of Contemplation and the Life of Action	234
	The Government of the Ideal State	236
X	THE REPUBLIC AND ITS THEORY OF COMMUNISM	239
	Community of Property	239
	Community of Wives	252
	The General Theory of Communism in the Republic	262
XI	PLATO AND THE STATES OF GREECE	277
	The Republic as an ideal	277
	The Judgement of Actual States in the Light of the Ideal	282

CHAP.		PAGE
	The First Corruption—Timocracy	290
	The Second Corruption—Oligarchy	292
	The Third Corruption—Democracy	294
	The Last Corruption—Tyranny	300
	The Final Verdict on Justice and Injustice	301
	Plato and Panhellenism	307
	NOTE.—The Timaeus and the Critias	311
XII	THE POLITICUS	314
	The Definition of the Statesman or Absolute Ruler	314
	The Myth of the Politicus	317
	The Final Definition of the Statesman or Absolute Ruler	319
	Absolutism Justified by the Argument of Political Flexibility	320
	Absolutism Justified by the Argument of Social Harmony	325
	Absolutism Modified by the Idea of the Rule of Law	328
	The Platonic Classification of States	333
XIII	THE LAWS AND ITS GENERAL THEORY OF THE STATE	338
	The Genesis and Character of the Laws	338
	Self-Control as the Principle of the Laws	343
	Peace and War	345
	The Nature of Law	348
	The Lessons of History	356
XIV	THE SYSTEM OF SOCIAL RELATIONS IN THE LAWS	364
	Geography and Population	364
	The Treatment of Property in the Laws	369
	The System of Economics in the State of the Laws	373
	The Treatment of Marriage and the Family in the Laws	379
XV	THE SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT IN THE LAWS	384
	The Provisions for the Beginning of the State	384
	The Permanent Institutions of the State	386
	The General Character of the Government in the Laws	395
	The Change of Tone in the Twelfth Book of the Laws	398

CHAP.		PAGE
XVI	THE LAWS AND ITS THEORY OF LAW	411
	Plato's View of Crime and Punishment	412
	Religion and Religious Persecution	422
XVII	THE THEORY OF EDUCATION IN THE LAWS	430
	Prolegomena to the Theory of Education	430
	The State Control of Education	433
	Primary Education in the Laws	435
	Secondary Education in the Laws	436
	NOTE.—The Debt of Aristotle to the Laws	443
APPENDIX
	THE LATER HISTORY OF PLATO'S POLITICAL THEORY	445
	§ 1. The Middle Ages	445
	§ 2. The Renaissance—Sir Thomas More	448
	§ 3. The Modern World—Rousseau, Hegel, Comte	452
	INDEX	458