

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	ix
1 On the Discrimination of Discourse Theories: The 'linguistic turn' in philosophical perspective	1
I Introduction	1
II Benveniste, Lacan, Habermas	2
III 'Figures Drawn in Sand': Foucault on Kant	9
IV The Ethics of Discourse: Chomsky contra post-structuralism	20
V Ideas of Community: Kant, Wittgenstein, Lyotard	29
VI Descartes or Kant? The subject in question	43
VII Discourse, Difference, and the 'Ends of Man': Husserl, Levinas, Derrida	50
2 Raising the Tone: Derrida, Kierkegaard, and the Rhetoric of Transcendence	73
I Must We Mean What We Say? Deconstruction and the 'apocalyptic tone'	73
II Plato, Derrida, Habermas	79
III Kierkegaard en abîme	85
IV Between Phenomenology and Structuralism	96
V Kant, Derrida, Lyotard	108
3 Spinoza, Marx, Althusser: 'Structural Marxism' twenty years on	127
I Althusser Against Post-Structuralism	127
II The Spinozist Turn: Science, truth, ideology	134
III The Claim of Analysis	144

CONTENTS

4	Truth, Science and the Growth of Knowledge: On the limits of cultural relativism	154
I	Introduction: of theories and things	154
II	Varieties of Relativism	155
III	Ontology and Epistemology	159
IV	The Growth of Knowledge	162
V	The Test of Practice	165
VI	Of Reality and Truth in an Extra-Discursive Sense	167
VII	Mixed Genealogies: Duhem, Bachelard, Saussure	170
5	Marxism Against Postmodernism, Or the Eighteenth Brumaire revisited	180
I	Reality Through the Looking Glass	180
II	Consensus and Critique: Habermas, Davidson, Rorty	185
III	The Mirror of Consumption: Marx 'after' Baudrillard	190
IV	'Transcendental Illusions': Kant and Lyotard	197
V	Alternative Resources	206
VI	Retrieving Modernity: Adorno and Jameson	214
6	Of an Apoplectic Tone Recently Adopted in Philosophy	222
I	Ten Slogans in Search of an Author	222
II	The Logic of Deconstruction: Derrida on Plato, Rousseau, Kant and Husserl	230
III	Border-Crossings: Derrida, Austin, Ryle	243
	Index	254