Preface	xi
I The Nature of Time	1
1 What is Time?	1
2 The Intractability of Time	3
3 Things in Time and Temporal Items	5
4 Reductionism	6
5 Platonism	7
6 A Plan of the Work	11
II Time and Change	13
1 Reductionism and Aristotle's Principle	13
2 Changes	14
3 Inconceivability and Verification	17
4 Towards Changeless Time	19
5 Quantized Change	24
6 Date Causality	28
7 Duration Causality	33
8 Spatial Vacua and Reductionist Theories of Space	38
9 A Comparison of Temporal and Spatial Vacua	42
10 Temporal Vacua and Modalities	44
III The Topology of Time I: The Linearity of Time	48
1 The Standard Topology	48
2 Cyclical Time and Closed Time	57
3 A Maximal Exposition of the Hypothesis of Closed Time	65

Contents

4	The Underdetermination of Theory by Data	68
5	Reductionism, Platonism and Closed Time	74
IV	The Topology of Time II: The Unity of Time	79
1	Space, Time and Unity	79
2	Non-unified Space	83
3	Non-unified Space and Non-unified Time	87
4	The Essentially Temporal Character of Evidence	90
5	Unified Space and Non-unified Time?	92
V	The Topology of Time III: The Beginning of Time	96
1	Beginnings and Endings	96
2	Aristotle, Swinburne and Tenses	97
3	Kant, Indefinite Extrapolation and Possibility	101
4	Empty Time, Leibniz and Explanation	104
5	Aristotle's Principle, Empty Time and the Beginning of the Universe	106
VI	The Topology of Time IV: The Micro-aspects	112
1	The Micro-structure of Time	112
2	Discrete Time	114
3	The Empirical Significance of Continuity Postulates	121
4	The Points of Time	126
5	The Russellian Construction of Instants	128
6	Instants as Propositions	130
7	Instants as Parts of Durations	134
8	Intervals of Time	138
VII	The Metric of Time	143
1	Dates and Durations	143
2	The Metrication of Time	151
3	Clocks and Conventions	155
4	Choosing a Clock	158
5	Conventionalism	161
6	Objectivism	164
7	Platonism and Objectivism	168
8	Objectivism and Semantic Revisionism	171
9	Unmeasurable Time	173

Contents

VIII	The Special Theory of Relativity	176
1	The Special Theory of Relativity	176
2	The Lorentz Transformations	179
3	Consequences of the Lorentz Transformations	183
	(i) Relativization of Simultaneity and Platonism	183
	(ii) STR and the Topology of Time	184
	(iii) Quine and the STR	186
4	The Twins Paradox	187
5	Platonism, Reductionism and the Special Theory of Relativity	195
IX	The Direction of Time	201
1	The Criterion of Temporal Order	201
2	Memory and Temporal Order	205
3	Memories and Mories	207
4	Physical Correlates	208
5	Predicates and Relations without Physical Correlates	211
X	Towards a Positive Theory	214
1	What, then, is Time?	214
2	Platonism	215
3	Time as a Construction from Events	217
4	Time as a Logical Space	218
5	Time as a System of Non-empirical Abstract Objects	221
6	The Flexible Response Theory	226
7	The Facts of the Matter	230
8	Time as a Theoretical Structure	235
9	Time as a Theoretical Framework	239
	Appendix: Properties of Relations	243
	Notes	246
	Bibliography	254
