

CONTENTS

Chapter 1. The construction of the world.

1. The philosophical emplacement of the Aufbau .	1
2. The theory of the constitution as a phenomenism.	7
3. The extensionality of the theory of the constitution.	17
4. Structurality.	24
5. The place of metaphysics.	32
6. Conventionalism.	37

Chapter 2. The relationship with Wittgenstein.

7. The fragmentation of the Circle.	43
8. The authentic philosopher, Moritz Schlick.	45
9. Schlick and Wittgenstein.	48
10. A priori propositions.	51
11. Meaning and verification.	58
12. Form and content.	66
13. Philosophy as an activity.	72

Chapter 3. Vienna, the Circle and Otto Neurath.

14. Schlick and Neurath.	83
15. Otto Neurath, the man of action.	87
16. The political role of the Vienna Circle.	91
17. The auxiliary motive.	99
18. The scientific conception of the world.	105
19. The foundation of science.	113
20. Physicalism and unified science.	117
21. The sentences of psychology.	124
22. Protocol sentences.	131
23. Truth.	137
24. Logic and language: the encyclopedia versus the system.	142

Chapter 4. Carnap's physicalism.

25. Overcoming metaphysics.	149
-----------------------------	-----

CONTENTS

26. The material and the formal mode of speech.	168
27. Protocols and physicalism.	179
28. Theoretical assertions and practical decisions.	197
29. The influence of Neurath and Popper.	205

Chapter 5. Logical syntax.

30. The birth certificate of the Logische Syntax .	220
31. The Logische Syntax : the objective.	229
32. The Logische Syntax : the languages I and II.	232
33. The Logische Syntax : general syntax.	238
34. The Logische Syntax : logicism.	242
35. The Logische Syntax : analyticity.	246
36. The Logische Syntax : extensionality and the formal mode.	249
37. The Logische Syntax : epistemology and psychologism.	259
38. The semantic tradition.	264

Chapter 6. Conventionalism, semantics and logical syntax.

39. The criticism of conventionalism.	268
40. Quine versus Carnap.	275
41. Quine's criticism.	286
42. The Semantics of the Logische Syntax .	292
43. The notion of truth .	296
44. Carnap, Gödel and Tarski.	300
45. Conventionalism beyond syntacticism.	304

Chapter 7. Logical syntax and empirical science.

46. A syntactic reformulation of physicalism.	310
47. The statement view of science.	315
48. Reduction sentences.	318
49. Empirical methodology, the thing-language, and physicalism.	323
50. The language of science and empiricism.	328
51. Empirical meaning, testability, and physicalism.	331
52. Verificationism.	340
53. Carnap and Neurath.	351

Bibliography.	361
----------------------	-----

Index.	393
---------------	-----