

Contents

Introduction and Acknowledgements	viii
Part I Problems of Political Theory
1 Kant and the Protestant Ethic	3
2 Nietzsche and Fascism	19
3 Political Philosophy and the Philosophy of History in Hegel's Essay on the English Reform Bill	29
4 Democracy and Right in Habermas's Theory of Facticity and Value	42
5 Democracy and Human Freedom	57
Part II Problems of International Political Theory
6 Grotius as an International Political Theorist	73
7 John Locke and International Politics	90
8 Political Philosophy and World History: The Examples of Hegel and Kant	110
9 Justice in One Country?	125
10 International Relations and the Reconstruction of Political Theory	141
11 Conclusion	161
Bibliography	164
Index	168