
Contents

Notes on Contributors	vii
Introduction: Philosophy and the (Post)colonial Emmanuel Chukwudi Eze	1
PART I Africa and Modern Scientific Reason	23
1 Philosophy, Culture, and Technology in the Postcolonial Kwame Gyekye	25
2 Is Modern Science an Ethnoscience? Rethinking Epistemological Assumptions Sandra Harding	45
3 African Philosophy and Modernity Peter Amato	71
PART II Africa and Modern Philosophic Reason	101
4 The Color of Reason: The Idea of “Race” in Kant’s Anthropology Emmanuel Chukwudi Eze	103
5 The Critique of Eurocentrism and the Practice of African Philosophy Tsenay Serequeberhan	141
6 Critic of Boers or Africans? Arendt’s Treatment of South Africa in The Origins of Totalitarianism Gail Presbey	162
PART III Rebuilding Bridges	181
7 African Philosophy’s Challenge to Continental Philosophy Robert Bernasconi	183

8	Understanding African Philosophy from a Non-African Point of View: An Exercise in Cross-cultural Philosophy Richard H. Bell	197
9	Alterity, Dialogue, and African Philosophy Bruce Janz	221
PART IV The Politics of the "Postcolonial"		239
10	Tragic Dimensions of our Neocolonial "Postcolonial" World Lewis Gordon	241
11	Honor, Eunuchs, and the Postcolonial Subject Leonard Harris	252
12	Postphilosophy, Politics, and "Race" John Pittman	260
13	African Philosophy and the Postcolonial: Some Misleading Abstractions about "Identity" D.A. Masolo	283
PART V Thoughts for a Postcolonial Future		301
14	Democracy and Consensus in African Traditional Politics: A Plea for a Non-party Polity Kwasi Wiredu	303
15	Democracy or Consensus? A Response to Wiredu Emmanuel Chukwudi Eze	313
16	Of the Good Use of Tradition: Keeping the Critical Perspective in African Philosophy Jean-Marie Makang	324
17	Toward a Critical Theory of Postcolonial African Identities Emmanuel Chukwudi Eze	339
	Select Bibliography	345
	Index	355