

Contents

Introduction, 3

Part I The Medieval and Renaissance Origins of the Status of the American Indian in Western Legal Thought

1. The Medieval Discourse of Crusade, 13

- Truth: Papal Discourse, 15
 - The Church Universal, 15
 - Reform Discourse, 18
 - Civilian Discourse, 26
- Power: Crusading Discourse, 29
 - Holy War, 29
 - Urban's Spanish Crusade, 32
 - The First Call to Crusade, 34
 - The Instruments of Crusade, 37
- Knowledge: Humanist Discourse, 41
 - Secular Humanism, 42
 - Innocent's Synthesis, 43

2. The Perfect Instrument of Empire: The Colonizing Discourse of Renaissance Spain, 59

- The Lithuanian Controversy, 59
 - The Intra-European Crusade of the Teutonic Knights, 60
 - The Constance Debates on the Rights of Infidels, 62
- The Iberian Crusades in Africa, 67
 - The Portuguese Appeal to Conquer and Convert the Canary Islands, 67
 - The Papal Response: Romanus Pontifex, 71
- The Spanish Bulls, 74
 - The New World's First Entrepreneurs, 74
 - The Discovery Era's First Contract for the Conquest of the New World, 78
- Instruments of Empire, 81
 - Governor Columbus, 81
 - The Encomienda, 83
 - The Dominicans in the New World, 85
 - The Laws of Burgos, 86
 - The Requerimiento, 88
- Victoria's "On the Indians Lately Discovered," 93
 - The Inquisitions into Indian Capacity, 93
 - Franciscus de Victoria, 96
 - Victoria's Lecture, 97
 - A Guardianship over the Indians, 103

Part II Protestant Discourses

3. The Protestant Translation of Medieval and Renaissance Discourses on the Rights and Status of American Indians, 121

- The English Reformation, 122
 - The Reformation's Transformation of English Society, 122
 - A Prefatory Colonizing Discourse, 126
- The Elizabethan Restoration, 131
 - Laissez-Faire Discourse, 132
 - Perfecting Colonizing Praxis: The Merchants' Foray, 134
 - Elizabethan Colonialism: Elizabeth's Irish Wars, 136

4. The Elizabethan Wars for America, 151

- The First Protestant Crusade to America, 151
 - Sir Humphrey Gilbert: Elizabethan Terrorist, 151
 - The Early Colonizing Efforts of Sir Humphrey Gilbert, 157
 - Early New World Colonizing Discourses, 160
 - The New World Crusade of Sir Humphrey Gilbert, 162
- Appropriated Discourses, 163
 - Cantabrigian Calvinism, 163
 - Peckham's "True Reporte," 165
 - The Black Legend of Spanish "Cruelties" in the New World, 173
- The Second Elizabethan Crusade to America, 174
 - Sir Walter Raleigh: The First Great Puritan Hero, 174
 - The Virginia Venture of Sir Walter Raleigh, 177

5. The English Conquest of Virginia, 193

- The Bridge Builders Between the Medieval and the Enlightenment Visions of the American Indian in Western Legal Thought, 194
 - Alberico Gentili's Oxonian Discourse, 194
 - Sir Edward Coke and the English Common Law Presumption of the King's Right to Wage War Against Infidels, 199
- The Invasion of America, 201
 - The Virginia Company's Tactics and Strategy, 201
 - The Jamestown Venture, 205
 - The War for America, 212
 - A Discourse of Conquest, 218

Part III The Norman Yoke: The American Indian and the Settling of United States Colonizing Legal Theory

6. The Norman Yoke, 233

- Discourses of Containment: The Old Northwest and the Proclamation of 1763, 233

- An Indian Reserve on the Frontier, 233
- The Proclamation of 1763, 235
- The Imperial Plan of 1764, 238
- Discourses of Resistance, 241
- The Crown and the Colonists' Competing Discourses on and Claims to the Indian Frontier, 245
- Locke's Theory and the Indians' "Wastelands," 246
- Locke's Theory Applied: The Colonial Radicals' Praxis on the Indian Frontier, 249
- The Norman Yoke Applied to America, 251
- The American By-products of the Norman Yoke, 255
- Benjamin Franklin: Syndicalist, 256
- The "Suffering" Traders, 259
- The Vandalia Colony, 262
- Thomas Jefferson: Revolutionary, 265
- Discursive Chaos on the Frontiers of American Colonizing Discourse, 271
- Chaos in the Continental Congress, 271
- Camden-Yorke*, 275

7. The Colonists' War for America, 287

- The Patriots' Discourses, 288
- The Players and the Play, 289
- The "Plain Facts" of the "Public Good," 292
- The Norman Yoke Revived to Decide the Rights and Status of American Indian Tribes, 305
- Johnson v. McIntosh* and United States Colonizing Legal Theory, 308
- Fletcher v. Peck*: A Dangerous Contest Compromised, 308
- Daniel Webster for the Plaintiff, 309
- Defendant McIntosh's Rebuttal, 310
- Chief Justice Marshall's Discourse of Conquest, 312

Conclusion, 325

Bibliography, 335

Index, 343