

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Foreword Virginia Held	ix
Introduction Andrew Valls	xiii

Part I: Does Morality Apply to International Affairs?

1 Morality and “the National Interest” David A. Welch	3
--	---

Part II: Just War Theory

2 Reactions to War: Pacifism, Realism, and Just War Theory Nicholas Fotion	15
3 Just War in the Persian Gulf? Anthony J. Coates	33
4 The Just War Tradition and the Use of Nonlethal Chemical Weapons during the Vietnam War Frances V. Harbour	49

Part III: Terrorism and Political Violence

5 Can Terrorism Be Justified? Andrew Valls	65
6 The Ethics of IRA Terrorism David A. George	81

7	Terrorism in the Arab–Israeli Conflict Neve Gordon and George A. Lopez	99
Part IV: Humanitarian Intervention
8	Humanitarian Intervention and State Sovereignty Simon Caney	117
9	Humanitarian Intervention in Civil Wars in Africa George Klay Kieh	135
10	German and U.S. Intervention against Yugoslav Sovereignty Emil Nagengast	151
Part V: Global Justice
11	Global Distributive Justice Peter Jones	169
12	The Ethical Responsibilities of Multinational Corporations: The Case of the North American Aluminum Companies in Jamaica Gerard Elfstrom	185
13	Whatever Happened to the New International Economic Order? Jeffrey Cason	201
	References	215
	Index	231
	About the Contributors	239