

Contents

Preface / vi

Twenty-five theses towards understanding the crisis and finding a Left solution / viii

- I. What's gone forever / 1
 - 1. Changing the future / 1
 - 2. Perceiving the crisis / 1
 - 3. Changing socialism / 2
 - 4. Changing development / 3

- II. Understanding the crisis / 6
 - 5. Keynes / 6
 - 6. The limits of Keynesian regulation / 7
 - 7. The falling rate of profit and class struggle / 8
 - 8. The impossible revival / 12
 - 9. The vengeance of social costs / 13
 - 10. Reducing social costs: exit left / 18
 - 11. Reducing social costs: exit right / 24

- III. Automation and the death of capital / 29
 - 12. The micro-electronic revolution / 29
 - 13. Impossible capitalism / 30
 - 14. The end of the society of work / 32
 - 15. Labourist conservatism / 34
 - 16. Living-dead capitalism / 35

IV. A way out of capitalism / 40

17. The concept of an income for life: the '20,000 hours' / 40
18. Towards the abolition of wage labour: the social income / 42
19. Towards a social income / 44
20. Standardised work, shared work / 47
21. Critique of market relations / 48
22. Critique of heteronomous work / 50
23. Demand for work – demand for society / 53
Professionalism / 55
24. The necessary and the optional / 56
25. Connections and overlaps, innovations and self-management / 59

V. By way of a conclusion: individual, society, state / 64

Supplementary Texts / 79

- I. The Third Wave according to Alvin Toffler / 81
- II. Their famine, our food / 92
- III. Automation and the politics of time / 101

Notes / 111