

Contents

1. Introduction: Why We Wrote this Book Together
Maria Mies and Vandana Shiva	1
Why is it so difficult to see this common ground?; Freedom versus emancipation; False strategies; The global versus the local; The breakdown of universalist (Western) ideologies and the emergence of cultural relativism; Ecofeminism; 'Spiritual' or 'political' ecofeminism?
PART 1: CRITIQUE AND PERSPECTIVE	22
2. Reductionism and Regeneration: A Crisis in Science
Vandana Shiva	22
Knowledge and ignorance; Value and non-value; The reduction of human reproduction; The reduction of plant reproduction; Invasion and justice; Regeneration, production and consumption.
3. Feminist Research: Science, Violence and Responsibility
Maria Mies	36
Methodological guidelines for feminist research.
PART 2: SUBSISTENCE V. DEVELOPMENT	55
4. The Myth of Catching-up Development Maria Mies	55
Divide and rule: modern industrial society's secret; Catching-up impossible and undesirable; Does catching-up development liberate women?
5. The Impoverishment of the Environment: Women and Children Last Vandana Shiva	70
Environmental degradation and poverty creation; Impoverishment of women, children and the environment; The food and nutrition crisis; The water crisis; Toxic hazards; Nuclear hazards; Survival strategies of women and children; Dispensability of the last child: the dominant paradigm; Grassroots response; Putting women and children first.
6. Who Made Nature Our Enemy? Maria Mies	91
Everything has changed – everything is the same; Some lessons – not only for women.
PART 3: THE SEARCH FOR ROOTS	98
7. Homeless in the 'Global Village' Vandana Shiva	98
Development as uprooting; Soil as a sacred mother.
8. Masculinization of the Motherland Vandana Shiva	108
Globalization and the rise of nationalism; From plurality to duality.
9. Women have no Fatherland Maria Mies	116
Women pay the price; Colonization of women; Global orientation and national self-interest; Violence and the state; Mother nation and father state; National identity or catching-up development?

10. White Man's Dilemma: His Search for What He Has Destroyed Maria Mies 132
 Despair in the midst of plenty; Violence and desire; Pornography and prostitution tourism; Sexuality and nature; Reproduction technology; The source of these desires; Dissection and the search for wholeness; Violence, progress and sentimentalism; Before the idyll; Romanticizing the 'Savage'; Romanticizing nature; How fascism uses these desires.

PART 4: ECOFEMINISM V. NEW AREAS OF INVESTMENT THROUGH BIOTECHNOLOGY 164

11. Women's Indigenous Knowledge and Biodiversity Conservation Vandana Shiva 164
 Diversity as women's expertise; Women: custodians of biodiversity; 'Sacredness': a conservation category; Biotechnology and the destruction of biodiversity.

12. New Reproductive Technologies: Sexist and Racist Implications Maria Mies 174
 Introduction; Selection and elimination; Racism, sexism and the Enlightenment; Eugenics; Sociobiology; The amorality of biotechnology; Sexist and racist implications; Sexism; From fertility as a 'disease' to sterility as a 'disease'; Racism: population control and reproductive technology in the Third World; Third World women as guinea-pigs; Breeding male, or patriarchy as business.

13. From the Individual to the Dividual: the Supermarket of 'Reproductive Alternatives' Maria Mies 198
 From 'Helping the infertile women' to 'Reproductive alternatives'; The 'surrogate-mother' industry; My body—my property?; Consequences for 'sellers', 'buyers' and society; From liberalization to state control; From the individual to the dividual.

PART 5: FREEDOM FOR TRADE OR FREEDOM FOR SURVIVAL 218

14. Self-Determination: The End of a Utopia? Maria Mies 218
 Introduction; The dilemma of self-determination; Historical and philosophical foundations of the concept of self-determination; Simone de Beauvoir's Enlightenment heritage; Re-creation of a 'living relation'.

15. GATT, Agriculture and Third World Women Vandana Shiva 231
 Women and food production; Displacing small farmers; Intellectual Property Rights and ownership of seeds; TNCs vs freedom for subsistence producers.

16. The Chipko Women's Concept of Freedom Vandana Shiva 246

PART 6: SUBSISTENCE: FREEDOM V. LIBERALIZATION	251
17. Liberating the Consumer Maria Mies	251
Voluntary simplicity and consumer liberation; Different ways to satisfy fundamental needs; Different economies; The Seikatsu Club.
18. Decolonizing the North Vandana Shiva	264
Ethical decolonization; The population problem; Economic colonization: the growth of affluence, the growth of poverty; Intellectual colonization: the growth of knowledge, the spread of ignorance.
19. People or population: Towards a New Ecology of Reproduction Maria Mies and Vandana Shiva	277
Population, environment and people; Who carries whom?; False assumptions, false conclusions; Women as wombs and targets; Development at whose cost?; Population control and coercion; A new ecology of reproduction.
PART 7: CONCLUSION	297
20. The Need for a New Vision: the Subsistence Perspective Maria Mies	297
The schizophrenia of commodity-producing societies; From garbage to subsistence; Conclusion.
Index	325